Shootout In Chicago

A tragic cops-and-robbers drama unfolded on the streets of Chicago early today, with four hostages ultimately caught in the middle of a blazing gun duel.

The daring caper, however, was short-lived. Police shot and killed one of the bandits; another badly wounded; the third was captured. The hostages were unharmed.

Shortly after midnight, the three armed gunmen calmly walked into a North Side restaurant. After cleaning out the cash register, they relieved late-night diners of wallets, pocketbooks, rings and jewelry. Their loot came to more than $1,000.

But when the gunmen stepped outside the restaurant, they were greeted by a fleet of police cruisers and heavily armed cops. They scurried back inside the restaurant, grabbed four woman hostages, and then edged back out the door to a waiting get-away car.

Police watched the procession helplessly. One of the bandits held a shotgun to the head of one of the women. For fear the bandits would start shooting, police avoided a confrontation.

But as soon as the hostages were herded into the car and the thieves roared off into the night, police took chase. They pursued the bandits from one end of Chicago to the other before the thieves abandoned their car. As they raced for cover, a volley of police gunfire cut down two of the fleeing robbers. The other was quickly captured.

The hostages survived the ordeal without a scratch.

Nixon Set for Hawaii Talks

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon will welcome Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka to Hawaii tonight for summit talks he hopes will strengthen prospects for peace in the Pacific.

Nixon scheduled a full morning of work at the Western White House here before taking off from the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station for Honolulu's Hickam Field.

While on the island of Oahu, Nixon will spend most of his time with Tanaka. But he will hold a Vietnam conference Thursday with Ellsworth Bunker, U. S. ambassador to Saigon, and will set aside some time for trying to win friends and influence voters.

A campaign-style welcome was readied for him at Hickam, and he planned to mingle with Hawaii's business and civic leaders at a reception given by Clare Boothe Luce, who served as ambassador to Italy during the Eisenhower administration.

Mrs. Nixon will also do some goodwill hopping, flying to Hilo on the island of Hawaii Thursday to visit volunteer service projects and be entertained at a luau.

Vietnam and politics dominated a 39-minute news conference Nixon held Tuesday outside his San Clemente home. Some of the highlights:

—Bombing of North Vietnam and the mining of its harbors will continue until there is substantial progress toward a settlement of the war. Neither activity will be halted "as an election eve tactic."

—Of the controversial bugging of Democratic National Committee headquarters, he said: "We want the air cleared. We want it cleared as soon as possible." Anyone in government or in his campaign who declined to cooperate with investigators will be fired.

—The President, in seeking a second term, is bidding for "a clear mandate for what I have called change that works." He said he wants to forge a "new majority" embracing Democrats as well as Republicans.

—Nixon will spend most of the next six weeks in Washington, making only occasional one-day campaign trips. But he will step up the tempo in the final three weeks of the campaign, stumping hard and covering the whole country.

Nixon said he and Tanaka will discuss "initatives towards the People's Republic of China and towards the Soviet Union." But he placed greater emphasis on economic problems.

Noting that Japan enjoys a tidy surplus in trade with the United States, he said, "I believe that out of this meeting will come some progress in trying to reduce that unfavorable balance."

Masayoshi Ohira, the man chiefly responsible for Japan's foreign policy, calls the United States "a heaven-sent friend," but says Japan can no longer one-sidedly depend on it politically, militarily and economically.

The 62-year-old foreign minister will be at Tanaka's side in the two-day summit talks with President Nixon in Hawaii.

Tanaka regards himself as primarily an expert on domestic problems, and he leans heavily on Ohira.

Ohira holds the Foreign Ministry portfolio for the second time in 10 years and is further buttressed in the U.S.-Japan talks by a term as minister of international trade and industry.

He is the main architect of Tanaka's lightning moves to recognize China and will accompany him to Peking for talks with Premier Chou En-lai, expected late in September.

'Should Offer Thieu Asylum' .... Suggestion by McGovern

NEW YORK (AP) — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu should be offered political asylum in the United States if he feels endangered by a postwar settlement, Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern said today.

"General Thieu has been our man in Saigon," McGovern said. "We put him there. He may not represent the ideals of democracy, but he's our man."

"If he and some of his friends feel endangered by a postwar settlement, I think we ought to welcome him here," the South Dakota senator said following an appearance on the NBC "Today" show.

Two weeks ago, in an interview with newsmen in Milwaukee, McGovern had said he expected Thieu and his colleagues would flee Saigon into exile should a Communist-dominated government take over South Vietnam.

"I would expect Gen. Thieu and his cohorts to leave very quickly," he said in that interview. "My guess is that they would leave if I won the election and that there would be an exodus of the top generals and political figures out of the country and that emerging behind that would be (a) coalition that would be willing to deal with Hanoi."

Taking the offensive on an issue that has been something of a plague to McGovern for several months, the South Dakota senator said Nixon "has been silent in the face of the continued persecution of Soviet Jews."

As for Israel, McGovern said, "the administration's objective . . . is not to insure the security of Israel but to expel the Russians from the Middle East.

Related political stories on page 3.

"Once that objective is achieved," McGovern said in a speech to the New York Board of Rabbis, "Mr. Nixon will again pressure Israel to withdraw without the basic guarantees of safety that only direct negotiation can insure."

McGovern repeated his intention of standing by Israel if he becomes president. He attempted to dispel, as he has in past appearances before Jewish groups, a belief among some Jews that his plans to cut the U.S. defense budget by over $30 billion per year would jeopardize Israel's security.

But for the first time in any recent McGovern speech to a Jewish group, the senator dwelled heavily on domestic issues, including crime in the streets, poverty and old age security.

McGovern also called attention to the 250,000 Jews in New York City who he said live below the poverty line.

In another speech for a noon rally for Soviet Jews, McGovern said their plight "cannot be buried under our efforts to expand world trade and cultural contacts. It cannot be an afterthought to our efforts for world peace."

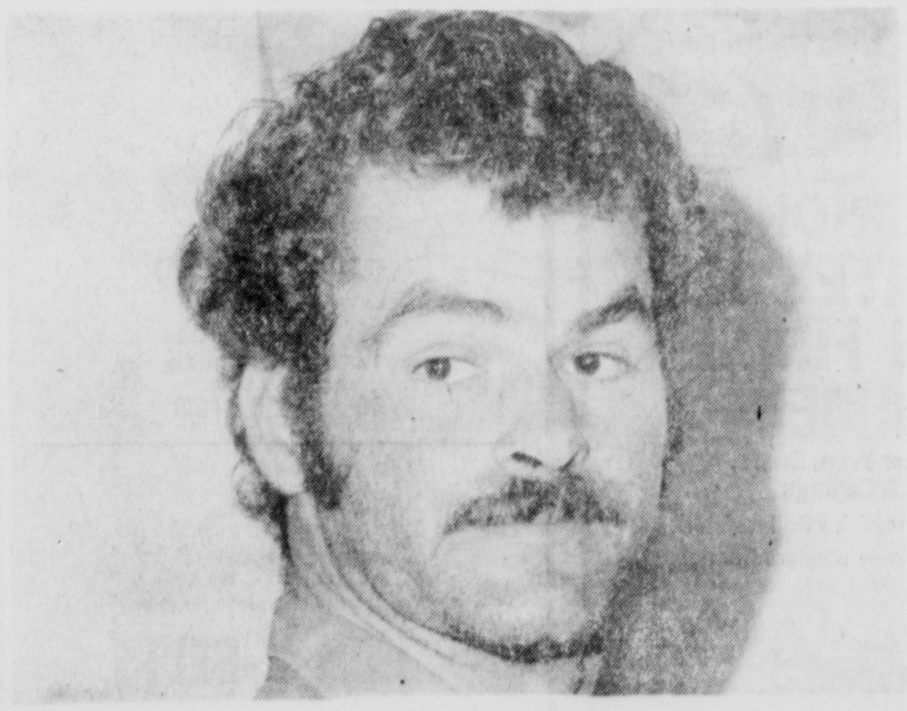

At stake in 1972 are the party allegiances of 5.9 million American Jews of all ages — nearly 2.5 million of them living in the New York area. For the first time in recent American history they are widely expected to give the Democratic candidate less than overwhelming support.

McGovern's defense plan includes a reduction of the U.S. Navy's aircraft carrier strength from 14 to 6 vessels. That move alone, some McGovern critics say, would weaken U.S. strength in the Mediterranean and jeopardize Israeli security.

Jewish support of Democratic presidential candidates has been so strong in recent history that one popular benchmark is 70 per cent. If Jewish support for the Democratic candidate falls below that mark, it is said to be a Republican victory.

Accused in Rape-Slaying of City Girl

Paltz Man Jailed Without Bail

By WALTER S. CLARK

NEW PALTZ

A 28-year-old moustached, unemployed ex-convict accused in the beating death of a 17-year-old Kingston High School senior was ordered held in the Ulster County Jail without bail Tuesday afternoon following arraignment before Town Justice S. Parks Glenn on a murder charge.

Jack Duane Lewis, who authorities said lived with his wife at the Colonial Arms Apartments in this community, is charged with the murder of Miss Colleen Ann Thurin, daughter of Carl and Catherine Tierney Thurin of 16 Prospect Street, Kingston.

Authorities said the defendant, who was on parole for just over six months in the alleged killing of an upstate girl in her apartment in June, 1966, is accused of fatally beating and raping the Kingston girl in a secluded wooded section of South Putt Corners in this township early last Saturday morning.

Miss Thurin died at Benedictine Hospital shortly before 1 a.m. Tuesday.

State Police officials, in charge of the investigation with Town of New Paltz police, said after receiving an autopsy report from Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser that the examination disclosed the girl's death was due to multiple internal hemorrages that apparently resulted from a brutal beating allegedly administered by Lewis.

Authorities said that the accused murderer of the Kingston girl had been arrested in June, 1966, and charged with the stabbing death of Clara Summerson in the girl's Elmira apartment sometime after he reportedly had met her in a bar in that upstate city.

Lewis subsequently pleaded guilty in an upstate court to a reduced charge of manslaughter in Miss Summerson's death. He was sentenced to a prison term of 5 to 15 years, but he was released on parole after serving a little over five years of the sentence.

The parolee reportedly came to this community and made his home in an apartment at Colonial Arms, where he was arrested early Tuesday by State Police who had had the apartment under surveillance. Lewis was taken into custody on a warrant charging him with a parole violation and after the Kingston girl died the suspect was booked for murder.

A State Police official commenting on the similarity between the death of Miss Summerson in the upstate city and the case of the Kingston girl noted that the Elmira girl and Miss Thurin reportedly had met Lewis at bars sometime prior to their deaths.

Both victims allegedly had been sexually assaulted, according to authoritative sources.

Lewis, an official said had been described as "belligerent, a vicious person with an assaultive nature."

Meanwhile, State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers, continued to investigate the death of Miss Thurin. Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman, who is directing the inquiry with Senior Investigator Joseph Valicenti of the Hurley Zone Headquarters and Town of New Paltz police, said Tuesday that Lewis allegedly assaulted the Kingston girl shortly after she reportedly had left Joe's Bar in this comunity.

Following the alleged assault, during which Miss Thurin reportedly was beaten, the girl stumbled from a wooded area to a highway where she reportedly notified passersby that she had been beaten and raped by a man.

Town Police were notified and they, with State Police BCI agents launched an around-the-clock investigation that subsequently resulted in the arrest of Lewis.

Plea Is Withdrawn

KINGSTON — Edwin Charles Healy, 28, of Kingston, who previously pleaded guilty in Ulster County Court to butglary in the third degree, withdrew that plea Tuesday morning.

Judge Raymond J. Mino, who was about to pronounce sentence on Healy when the plea was changed, marked the case ready for trial in mid-September.

The change in plea followed remarks by the District Attorney, Francis J. Vogt who recommended a penitentiary sentence. Vogt noted that the scene of the burglary, a Woodstock residence, had been allegedly "stripped clean of furnishings," many of which were "uninsured". Vogt said that Healy had "failed to cooperate" with police officials in an effort to return the stolen goods.

Healy's attorney, Alex J. Nirenberg, referred to Healy's being "a family man", "employed" and as having become "a worthwhile member of society."

When Judge Mino asked Healy if he had anything to say, he commented on "having learned a lesson" and then protested innocence, adding that the police had confiscated "things that belong to me."

Judge Mino queried Healy extensively as to why, if he was innocent, he pleaded guilty. After a conference between Healy and Nirenberg, Healy changed his plea to innocent.

KINGSTON — A New York City woman, Louise Orr, who is charged with the criminal sale of a dangerous drug (amphetamine) to an undercover agent, May 13, 1971, was arraigned in County Court Tuesday morning.

A bench warrant had been issued for her arrest in December, 1971 and she was subsequently arrested Aug. 24 when she came to this area to visit her mother in Monticello.

Records Inventory Controversy

Local Historian Answers 'Remarks'

GARDINER — Marc B. Fried, local historian, who would like the County Legislature's approval of his proposal to make an inventory of old historical area records and early Dutch manuscripts, has taken exception to remarks made by Ralph Brach (R-Dist. 9) in a letter he (Brach) sent recently to Fried and to members of the County Board.

Fried objected particularly to Brach's reference to the historian's involvement with the McGovern campaign.

Brach, uniquely, is sponsor of the resolution asking that Fried be appointed to make the inventory, gratis.

In his letter, Brach seemingly was attempting to point out that the reason Fried was not immediately appointed was due to the fact that the Democratic Legislators were unaware of the historian's party enrollment.

Brach said that 'at times they seem so obsessed with playing politics they feel the Republican members are incapable of overlooking a person's political enrollment."

Commenting, Fried said that "much of the information in the letter concerning my involvment in the McGovern campaign is obviously irrelevant to the resolution in question."

"It seems to me," Fried said, "that it is Brach who is playing politics and not the Democratic members of the Legislature."

Fried also expressed dismay that neither his name or his qualifications were mentioned in the resolution proposing his appointment.

Having recently completed a book on 17th Century Kingston, Fried is familiar with the records and cognizant of their importance. The records were sent to Queens College for microfilming and have been returned to the New York Underground Facilities in Rosendale where they are stored in vaults. In addition to making an inventory, Fried would determine their condition and make recommendations as to their further preservation.

Fried said that making an inventory of the documents would be a valuable service to the county as well as to himself.

He explained that a chapter of his book is devoted to information on sources and records and he plans to cite the documents in the vaults as resource material but feels unable to present that as fact until he is appraised of what material is in the underground facility.

Fried said that he has had extensive experience in historical research and has worked closely with translation of the early Dutch manuscripts. The Office of the State History Department in Albany has declared his work as "scholarly".

Fried is a professional musician in New York City and is a graduate of the State University at New Paltz.

Alex J. Nirenberg, (D-Dist. 10) at the last meeting of the Legislature questioned whether or not the person who does the inventory should be bonded. Fried said he was not in the least upset by this as "I would think this is standard procedure."

Brach's letter to Fried was actually encouraging in part. He asked that Fried not be discouraged by the politics involved adding that "the county clerk and the Republican members of the legislature feel the county is very fortunate to have someone as capable and experienced as you to offer to perform such a specialized service for the county without charge."

The matter is due to come before the legislature again at its Sept. 14 meeting.

Nixon's Campaign Director Meets With House Probers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Maurice H. Stans, President Nixon's campaign finance director, met with House investigators today in connection with the break-in of Democratic headquarters and alleged mishandling of GOP funds.

According to sources close to the House Banking and Currency Committee, Stans agreed to be interviewed by committee aides about his objections to the report detailing the alleged mishandling of $350,000 in Republican campaign funds.

The GAO began its investigation as a direct result of the break-in and alleged attempt to bug the Democratic National Committee headquarters at the plush Watergate apartment complex here.

Stans, former secretary of commerce, and the committee aides were expected to center their talks on the GAO contention that $114,000 of the disputed $350,000 campaign fund was traced to the Florida bank account of Bernard L. Barker, one of the Watergate suspects.

The GAO's report said the Committee to Re-elect the President may have committed 11 "apparent and possible" violations of the new campaign funding law. The GAO, Congress' investigative unit, referred its findings to the Justice Department for possible criminal action.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the banking panel which is conducting its own probe into Nixon campaign funds, invited Stans to meet with his aides to discuss what Stans had labeled the "misrepresentations and inaccuracies" in the report.

Five men were arrested with electronic eavesdropping equipment and photographic gear inside the Democratic offices June 17. Since then, a federal grand jury has been meeting in secret to hear testimony on the case. Sources close to the grand jury indicated Tuesday that criminal indictments may soon be forthcoming.

Indications of the pending break in the case came as Nixon made his first public comment on the incident.

He told reporters at the Western White House in San Clemente that "no one on the White House staff now or in this administration at the present" was involved in the affair. He acknowledged that his re-election committee may have made some "technical violations" of the campaign finance disclosure law. But, he added, these violations would be corrected.

In Washington, attorney Edward Bennett Williams, who is representing the Democrats in their $1 million lawsuit growing from the Watergate incident, talked Tuesday with E. Howard Hunt, a former White House consultant and CIA agent. Hunt's name appeared in the address books of two of the five Watergate suspects, according to police.

Charles W. Colson, special counsel to the President, was reportedly scheduled to meet with Williams today.

Unpleasant Decision for State GOP

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Republican State Committee meets here today, facing an unpleasant decision of aiding President Nixon carry New York this fall, possibly at the expense of some local GOP candidates.

Speculation was the 350-member committee would vote to let the Nixon - Agnew ticket run under both Republican and Conservative labels, trying for the winning margin which eluded Nixon in his two previous presidential bids.

The Conservatives were expected to take the first step toward cross - endorsement at their meeting in Tarrytown today.

A spokesman said Tuesday the party, which achieved prominence by electing James L. Buckley to the Senate in 1970, was "probably inclined" toward backing the Republican ticket.

Although the White House reportedly favors the cross-endorsement, Republican candidates for state and local office have voiced concern more voters could opt for Conservative, instead of Republican, candidates if Nixon-Agnew heads the third - party line.

Running under both labels could give Nixon just the margin he needs to carry New York this year, after losing the state by 400,000 votes in both 1960 and 1968.

In both previous years, however, Governor Rockefeller and the state GOP leaders blocked the cross - endorsement, for fear of giving the rival party the balance of power.

This year, however, Rockefeller, as Nixon's New York campaign director, has given top priority to winning the state's 41 electoral votes for the Nixon-Agnew ticket.

"Within the right framework, cross - endorsement is very useful to the President," Rockefeller observed at the GOP national convention last week.

He said the "right framework" would be "one of mutual advantage to both sides."

State Chairman Charles T. Lanigan said Tuesday night one reservation about allowing both lines had been swept away by the Republican National Committee.

The question was whether New York would still get 30 "bonus delegates" to the 1976 convention if Nixon carried the state with a Republican - Conservative total.

"I have a ruling that we wouldn't lose delegates because of it (cross - endorsement)," Lanigan said. "It wouldn't matter at all."

The GOP chairman declined to predict how the committee action would go.

The McGovern - Shriver ticket already enjoys the Democratic and Liberal endorsements this year.

The Liberal line provided 311,000 of the 371,000 - vote margin by which the Humphrey-Muskie ticket carried the state in 1968.

Forest Green Uniforms Replace Gray Work Suits in State Prisons

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The virtually shapeless, dab grey clothing for inmates in New York State's prisons is now being replaced by forest green uniforms with standard work clothing styling.

New York, like most states, gave up the stereotyped striped prison uniforms years ago, replacing them with the dirty gray work suits that have become a symbol of inmate garb.

Now with a $1.9 million grant from the federal government, the state began issuing the new uniforms this month.

Russell G. Oswald, corrections commissioner, said the new clothing has started being issued at Attica, Auburn, Bedford Hills, Green Haven and Wallkill correctional facilities.

Other institutions throughout the state will begin distributing the new clothing in September, Oswald said.

A delay in getting the new uniforms marked and distributed was one of the complaints in the three day "strike" by Attica prisoners in early July.

Oswald said the new clothing is not only more attractive and serviceable. but it gives a moral boost to the inmates.

"These look like work clothes, not a prison uniform," Oswald said. "We've found great acceptance in the idea from the inmates, our biggest problem is that we weren't able to get it to them as early as we would have liked."

When completed each inmate will have a winter coat, a chino jacket, two pairs of work pants, two pairs of fatigue pants, three work shirts, one dress shirt, four sets of summer underwear, two sets of winter underwear, one pair of high shoes, one pair of low shoes, six pairs of socks, one belt, a knit cap, six handkerchiefs and one sweatshirt.

Raincoats will be provided for inmates with duties outside the institution, and special clothing will be given to some parolees to supplement the dresswear they receive upon release. This issue will include unmarked work clothes.

The work clothes issued in prison will have the inmates name on a patch above the pocket of his shirt to encourage the addressing of prisoners by name, Oswald said.

Inmates are being trained by laundry supervisors in the prisons in the proper care of the new clothes.

The grant for the clothing was made by the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Report PCB Causes Embryo Death, Defects

NEW YORK (AP) — The industrial chemical PCB has produced death of embryos and birth defects in laboratory animal experiments, a government biologist reported today.

Dr. Helene C. Cecil of the U.S. Department of Agriculture said that 70 per cent of white leghorn chickens fed moderate levels of PCBs produced embryos that failed to hatch.

And of the chick embryos that failed to hatch, 34 per cent had birth defects, Dr. Cecil told the 164th national meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Cecil described the research as one of only a few carbon paper and probably in other areas not widely known. controlled studies of the effects of PCBs. Her report followed one on Tuesday of the discovery of the chemical in human tissue.

PCB, while not a pesticide, is chemically similar to DDT. It has found its way into the environment, into marine and animal life, and it has been detected in some drinking water in New York State, and in arctic polar bears.

Scientists at the chemical society meeting said PCB has been put to such uses as a liquid for transformers, as a lubricant, as a paint additive, in hydraullic fluid, and carbonless The chemical is highly resistant to heat.

"The recent contamination of poultry in 12 states is just one example of the hazards PCB can create," Dr. Cecil said. "Many potential problems are still unrealized and not appreciated at this time because of the relatively small amount of research on PCBs in the past."

In the study at the Agricultural Research Service in Beltsville, Md., chickens were given feed containing 20 parts per million PCB. Human tissue studies have revealed one to two parts per million in some samples and a high of 16 parts in one sample.

Of 1,200 embryos, 843 failed to hatch and of these 286 were abnormal. Half the abnormal embryos exhibited excessive concentrations and cysts of fluid, called edema, on the neck and rump.

Most of the chicks that did hatch appeared normal. However, these chicks did not grow as well as birds from chickens not given PCBs.

Dr. Cecil told newsmen there was still a possibility that some contaminant in PCB could be causing the problems rather than the chemical compound itself, and that this has to be determined conclusively.

Cancer Study Uncovers New Cases

BOSTON (AP) — Researchers whose studies first linked a synthetic female hormone to cancer in the children of pregnant women who took the drug say they have uncovered some 80 cases of such tumors since beginning their investigations.

In 1971, Drs. Arthur Herbst, Howard Ulfelder and David Poskanzer, working at Boston's Vincent Memorial Hospital, caused a medical stir when they reported finding eight cases of vaginal cancer during 1966-1969 which were apparently linked to the hormone diethylstilbestrol (DES).

They said they discovered that in each case, the mothers of the cancer patients had received DES during pregnancy. They reported there was a "highly significant association" between the mothers taking the drug and vaginal cancer in their young daughters.

Herbst says that since the study appeared, his team has received and confirmed reports on some 80 cases of vaginal tumors in women under 25 from throughout the country and overseas.

He said that even though the use of stilbestrol, a derivitive of DES, was widespread in pregnant women in the late 40s and early 50s, the fact that only 80 related cancer cases have been reported would indicate that the risk of cancer in the daughters is "so far not very large.

"We still don't know the risk of any young girl developing a tumor whose mother took the drug, but we feel it is small," he said.

The Herbst team study has two significant medical implications. It is one of the first times that a drug taken by a parent has been linked with disease in offspring occuring so many years later. And unlike the cervix, cancer in the vagina is rare, particularly in the young.

"Although the chance of development of these tumors appears to be very small," the 1971 report noted, "the results of this study suggest that it is unwise to administer stilbestrol to women early in pregnancy."

Since the appearance of the study, Herbst says, the already declining use of stilbestrol in pregnant women has decreased even further.

Beginning in 1946, pregnant women with histories of spontaneous abortions were frequently treated with DES because much was written at the time about the increased success of high-risk pregnancies following the use of the drug.

Because of stilbestrol's popularity, no one knows how many pregnant women received the drug, but conservative estimates put the number at least several hundred thousand worldwide.

Herbst says he and others are continuing research on the effects of DES on offspring. He says that it may be many years before final conclusions may be drawn because the research involves studying the development of cancer in many patients and the occurance of the disease in later generations.

Employe Blamed In Train Mishap

NEW YORK (AP) — The Fire Department says it has traced the tunnel fires that severely disrupted commuter service here to a Penn Cntral Railroad employe who mishandled a power distributor underneath Grand Central Terminal.

A Fire Department spokesman said Tuesday that the error in the substation caused a power surge that ignited third rail fires on four tracks used by the line's New Haven, Hudson and Harlem divisions.

A Penn Central spokesman declined comment on the finding. Earlier, the carrier said its own investigation indicated "the definite possibility of man failure" and that "employes involved" had been removed from service.

Train service was brought to a standstill for 59,000 commuters Monday evening and the company did not report normal operations until 7:20 p.m. Tuesday.

The carrier said electrical service on the last of the four tracks affected by the fires was expepcted to be restored in time for the morning rush hour today.

On Tuesday, William Ronan, chairman of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority demanded a full report from Penn Central, saying: "We cannot tolerate such mishaps if they prove to be the result of negligence."

THE GOSSIP COLUMN
by
ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

RUMOR OF THE WEEK: Jackie Onassis just celebrated her 43rd birthday on July 28 and there are hints that she went to Brazil this summer to visit Dr. Ivor Pitasky, the famous plastic surgeon. In his posh Rio clinic, Dr. P. divides his time between the very rich from all over the world and the very poor of his native land. His appointment book is filled a year in advance with the names of the despairing and social who read all about his face, breast, and buttock lifts in the fashion magazines. Photographers who specialize in Jackie say she looks fresher and younger. But only Dr. P. knows for sure.

Q: Any truth to the story that singer Diana Ross and her husband have separated? — T.L., Duluth, Minn.

A: A doubtful story since Bob Silberstein and Diana seem to be getting along just fine on the eve of the debut of her film, "Lady Sings the Blues." Diana is expecting baby number two in November.

Q: Why do these big black stars like Jim Brown always fool around with white girls like Raquel Welch and Gloria Steinem? Can't they be interested in their own race?—J.P., Topeka, Kan.

A: Jim Brown, former athlete turned movie star, has always divided his time fairly equally between women of both races. His dates with Raquel Welch were not serious and he is currently in love with a tiny girl he starred with in a recent movie. She is the beautiful, black Brenda Sikes and Brown says they fell for each other during a movie love scene. So much for Raquel Welch!

Q: Why did Leonard Bernstein write a Mass for the memory of President Kennedy? Isn't he actually Jewish? And in point of fact does he have any religion at all?—B.E., Chicago.

A: Bernstein let his musical tribute to the late President be shaped by Kennedy's religion, not his own. The grandson of a rabbi, Bernstein says he does not belong to any congregation, but "I pray much more often than once a week." The composer-conductor notes that much of his work has religious overtones—the JFK Mass, "Jeremiah," "The Age of Anxiety," and his symphony, "Kaddish."

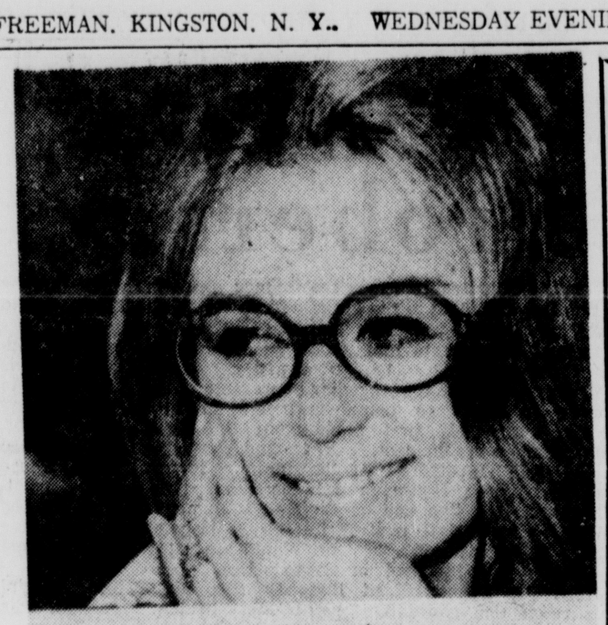

Q: Now that there is so much talk about Presidential and Vice Presidential health, we wonder if President Nixon has ever been sick or hospitalized. How is his health?—B.V., Philadelphia.

A: In a recent talk with the press Mrs. Nixon put the President's health on record. She said he was a "steady, sturdy person . . . hasn't missed a day in office because of ill health." The First Lady went on to say that the only time her husband has ever been hospitalized was when he slipped on the ice while carrying Tricia, an infant, and broke both elbows.

Q: Will that magazine put out a calendar of the Burt Reynolds nude foldout? — D.F., Terre Haute, Ind.

A: It's been suggested, but so far Reynolds hasn't agreed to such marketing. However, two young women have now put out a calendar of 12 sepia-toned male nudes called "Woman's Home Companion 1973." It features all straight, ordinary, everyday guys in modest poses.

Veterans Assistance

Editor, The Freeman:

We want to extned to you and your organization our thanks and appreciation for your assistance on our Veterans' Assistance Day. Although the number of veterans who participated was smaller than we had hoped, you should feel that you contribute to a cause which was helpful to a number of veterans who might othewise not have received help. This is supported by the favorable comments taken from our action report.

We want to recognize your effort in our Veterans' Assistance Day as a significant one and although we do not anticipate holding another Veterans' Assistance Day in view of the time and effort expenced by you and many others in terms of the total number served, we do plan to explore other answers to assist the veterans and others in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Cordially yours,

Busing Bill

Editor, The Freeman:

We were dismayed and angered by the amazing revelation in the Aug. 18 issue of the Freeman that BOTH Congressman Fish and Robison voted AGAINST the Nixon Anti-Busing Bill. We do not want our childrens education interfered with, we do not want our little ones transported long journeys around the country for purposes of racial integration, we do not want the heartache, and trouble and riot, not to mention the terrific expense and upheaval that always goes with these forced busing orders.

We are dismayed that two congressman, elected by us, are so callous to our public opinion that they would oppose sensible restraints on the courts in such cases. Robison is to be our new congressman, if he is this kind of a man we had better look elsewhere.

It is our right as Americans to send our children to our own neighborhood school, and to decide for ourselves where they will go to school. Yet we have these two, Fish and Rolison, who ignore our welfare and our wishes, what kind of men are they — are they fit to represent us? As lifelong Republicans we had better look at their records more closely, especially Robison who comes from far away, and who we know very little about.

We live in such terrible times we MUST NOT send the wrong kind of people to Washington to represent us.

Very truly yours
MRS. ARTHUR ELVIN

Planet of Man

Editor, The Freeman:

Throughout the history of mankind, and especially in the United States, and particularly in recent times, the nature of war and killing have been glorified beyond sane comprehension. The militarization of this country is absorbing sixty per cent of the budget, and roughly twelve per cent of the Gross National Product. Our government has become preoccupied with death, and the business of killing. Conservative estimates indicate that the nuclear stockpile of the United States and Soviet Union combined amounts to the explosive power of fifteen tons of TNT for every man, woman, and child on earth. And our Secretary of State has offered the ingenious proposal that our nuclear armaments must be greatly increased so that we can disarm from a position of strength.

I submit that there is no adequate defense against massive nuclear attack, and that there is nothing worth having that can be obtained by nuclear war — nothing material or ideological — no tradition that it can defend. It is utterly self-defeating. Nuclear weapons offer us nothing but a balance of terror. They drain us of depleting resources, deprive us of meeting social needs, and ultimately they provide us of no real protection — only the dubious satisfaction of retaliation.

We cannot accept this. We must come to our senses. The miraculous combination of exploding stars, carbon, nitrogen and oxygen which produced the earth over billions of years, and the delicate process by which life arose, the only life in our solar system, culminating three billion years later with the emergence of man, the only man in the universe, certainly indicates something incredibly special about the planet earth. This is man's home. The thought that we are in competition with the Russians and Chinese is a mistake. We are one species — one world community.

Our purpose is life. Please, let us work toward that.

Most sincerely,
ROGER W. VOGT, JR.

Encouraging Crime

How can we encourage still more crime? The San Francisco Examiner recently reported a sure way:

A bank holdup man was caught, gun-in-hand, by the police with more than $15,000 in loot right at the scene of the crime. Even after being disarmed he put up such a fight that he had to be knocked out before they could handcuff him. He was released on his own recognizance by the federal commissioner. Then he skipped town. Caught some time later in Georgia he was sent back to stand trial in federal court.

When he said he would plead guilty the judge advised him not to. Instead, the judge repeatedly asked prospective jurors if they understood the "social pressures" on a black man and could give him a "fair trial." The defense attorney argued that his client was innocent because of "diminished capacity" due to being black, out of work and needing money. The jury acquitted him of armed robbery.

The same judge who had presided at his trial then gave him a suspended sentence and five years probation on the flight charge. Then in the municipal court where the other charges were heard, another jurist gave him a suspended sentence of 90 days and one year probation on possessing marijuana and dismissed the resisting arrest charge "in the interests of justice."

So the bank robber went free. Is there a better way to encourage still more crime than to free the guilty to prey on the innocent?

New Welfare Rules

Tightening of welfare fund disbursements by federal, state, county and city offices has been justified because of the enormous tax load the average citizen is having to bear to sustain these recipients. Many workers have come to feel that it is a criminal offense for employable and healthy people to take their hard-earned money without good cause.

New York City, reacting to this feeling and the staggering expense of its welfare system, has set up a special center concentrating solely on presumptive employables. Only four of the first 200 applicants passed through the city's new admission procedures and were eligible for relief. Many withdrew when asked for the new documentations that the city now demands, to verify need. Others backed out at the first stage of the medical laboratory examinations; still others failed to return for a physician's checkup 48 hours later.

In an effort to be fair, however, the City checked through its formerly rated "employables," giving them the same comprehensive medical examination, and found that 70 per cent of a selected 1,000 were, in fact, "unemployable" because of physical-medical reasons. Somebody has been overharsh.

While this would seem to add more to the city's relief expense than it would gain from catching chiselers, the newer tight rules have uncovered many thousands of dollars disbursed to people collecting in more than one state. And by noting the welfare checks cashed out of state, the New York Center will be able to call the grafters to account and save additional expense. Such methods bear repeating at welfare centers throughout the country, where they are not already in use.

IT HAPPENS TODAY—It used to happen in the old west, but it happened this week to a crusading weekly newspaper editor and owner in the mild, not supposedly wild, country of Madisonville, Tenn. His plant was burned to the ground, and he was shot at, beaten, robbed and threatened. He was described as a "target for local radical elements" because of "his tenacious belief in printing the truth." There are few men who can match Dan Hicks Jr.

USSR NYET — Those supposedly stern Spartans, the Soviet comrades, have been shown in their propaganda as foregoing all luxury and deceit toward their party, as they work for the common good. It comes out now that the lure of their southern resort hotels has led many to pad their travel and convention expense accounts. Sad to see the state morality reaching a human low.

Jack Anderson Says

Jewish Vote Bid, Policy Collide

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's pursuit of Jewish votes has collided, apparently, with a new Mideast policy being urged upon him by the State Department.

The U.S. mission in Cairo has reported that the Soviet-Egyptian break is far more significant than Washington had dared to hope. Not only have most Russian advisors been sent home, but Russian reconnaissance planes have also departed Egypt.

The State Department has urged, therefore, that the time is ripe for the United States to restore better relations with Egypt's President Sadat. A little pressure on Israel to soften its terms, the State Department argues, not only would improve U.S. standing in Egypt but might lead to a Middle East settlement.

President Nixon has forbidden the slightest pressure on Israel, however, while he is courting Jewish voters in the presidential campaign.

He decided last year to make a strong appeal for Jewish votes as part of his drive to broaden the base of the Republican party. He overruled the advice of some White House advisors, particularly his chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, who argued that it would be useless to compete with the Democrats for the Jewish vote.

Key Letter

But the President was influenced by a letter that B'nai B'rith official Herman Edelsberg wrote to Earl Mazo, Nixon's biographer. Mazo sent a copy of the letter, dated April 2, 1971, to the White House where it has been carefully studied.

"At this time," wrote Edelsberg, "the central Jewish concern seems to be the danger to Israel. The leadership of the Jewish community . . . has heard time and time again that Nixon has been the best friend Israel has had in the past 20 years.

"I will not pretend that this word has filtered down to the precincts. But it's there to exploit."

Edelsberg buttressed his argument with election statistics. "It would be foolish defeatism," he wrote, "for the Republicans to write off the Jewish vote . . .

"In the 1968 election in the East, Humphrey got 83 per cent of the Jewish vote; Nixon 15 per cent; Wallace two per cent . . . In the Midwest, however, the Jewish vote was 71-26-3.

"Nixon did 11 points better in the Midwest than in the East. Why should anyone assume that a proper effort could not get a 10-point pickup in the East?

"But it's much more than New York. There is California with 700,000 Jews, Illinois with almost 300,000 and Pennsylvania with 440,000. When was the last time anyone carried the nation without at least two of these states?"

Footnote: Edelsberg, who confirmed the authenticity of his letter, explained he wrote it "not to show the Republicans how to win the Jewish vote, but rather to make the point that as one of the two major political parties in America, the Republicans would be foolish just to write off the minority vote."

$250,000 Red Carpet

Despite their annual complaints over military cuts, the Army brass always seems to have plenty of money to entertain visiting dignitaries.

Last spring, for example, the 101st Airborne Division at Ft. Campell, Ky., was notified that President Nixon would drop in on a "homecoming" celebration scheduled for April 6.

The brass immediately began preparing a lavish welcome that eventually cost an estimated $250,000.

Two days before the great day, the Army was told the President couldn't make it, and Ft. Campbell would have to settle for second best, Vice President Spiro Agnew.

Undaunted, the brass pushed ahead with their reception plans. All over the post, soldiers and civilians alike scurried about with paintbrushes and whitewash buckets.

The facility engineering shop labored long hours putting together recruiting and promotional displays. All told, the civilians at Ft Campbell put in about 4,406 hours of overtime.

After all their preparations, insiders tell us, the brass were worried not enough people would be on hand to cheer Agnew. So 47 chartered buses were dispatched to the hinterlands to bring in some 1,700 parade-watchers.

Another 15 buses were rented to supplement the army buses that were being used to shuttle visitors to and from parking lots. Some $3,200 was spent to hire a fleet of cars to haul around the brass hats and other "visiting dignitaries."

A report of expenses, prepared by post comptroller Col. Robert A. Koob and stamped "For Official Use Only," discloses the army spent $110,936.31 in "one-time expenses" for Project Homecoming.

"The wide variance between the actual and the $250,000 estimate," wrote Colonel Koob, "is basically that civilian salaries (other then overtime)) are not recorded as one-time expenses."

Footnote: An army spokesman explained that Project Homecoming was really just a recruiting effort. It was "regarded as a great opportunity to get the attention of the people in the recruiting area around Ft. Campbell," he said, "and to advance the cause of the 101st Airborne Division's recruiting effort."

OLD MAN IN THE MIDDLE

Martin F. Nolan Says

Who'll Be Spiro's Spiro

WASHINGTON—From the dizzying heights of Vice-President Agnew's new high-road campaign has emerged a riddle, as fascinating and as perilous as a fit of vertigo.

If, as Eugene McCarthy first suggested, Agnew was Nixon's Nixon, who will be Agnew's Agnew?

Since Nixon's Agnew has apparently forsaken the role of Nixon's Nixon, then the job may fall to Agnew's Nixon, who would again become Nixon's Nixon and thereby Agnew's Agnew.

That's the sort of trouble you tumble into when a Vice-President becomes a household name. A President must do something with him, but not too much. If he does too well, you can't dump him and when he's renominated, he begins to set his own conditions and preferences.

By all outward appearance, Vice-President Agnew either chose to or was ordered to be dull and noncontroversial at the Republican National Convention. He succeeded in this difficult task, his acceptance speech a vegetarian's diet compared to the raw sirloin he had dispensed to Republican audiences for the past three years.

But the next day in Miami Beach, the Vice-President met reporters and said that the new, bland Agnew was his own creation. In 1968 and 1970, he said, "It became essential for us to be a cutting, edge, to cut through the fog."

"I didn't complain about the role," he said, explaining that a Vice-President "must accept a broad range of responsibilities." He now welcomes the chance "to confine the campaign totally to the issues," adding that "I am not a conservative ideologue in any respect" and "if I seem conciliatory, it's because I am."

This confession sounds startling coming from an orator who so often proclaimed the benefits of provocative, even divisive rhetoric.

In the salad days of the old Agnew, a thesaurus or dictionary could be declared dangerous weapons; derisive adjectives fell like Viet Cong mortar shells. But now, the caliph of calumny has set aside his scimitar to become the voice of good government, no doubt delivering odes to revenue-sharing and hymns to the trade bill.

The only post-convention announcement that may have topped the birth of the new Agnew came from Clark MacGregor, who declared that he was changing the name of the organization he heads. Instead of the Committee to Re-elect the President, it is now the Committee to Re-elect President Nixon "because we think the Nixon name is politically attractive."

Previously, the re-election effort seemed aimed at preserving the flag, the Presidential seal and the Oval Office, with the tenant's identification being incidental. But now, in a joint decision, the President seems anxious to run as the real Richard Nixon just as the Vice President is eager to put on display the real Spiro Agnew.

In the meantime, who will be putting George McGovern in his place? Who will be slicing down any gain the Democrat makes in the huge Gallup gap separating him from the President?

Agnew explained that he was rinsing off the cutting edge of his own blade, because "the other candidate has seized the razor from the wrong end." But even self-inflicted wounds in August could heal by late October. If both Nixon and Agnew are traveling the high road, they might not see McGovern moving up.

Then the suspense will begin. Will Agnew become Nixon's Nixon or will he wait for Nixon to become Agnew's Agnew? Or, as in 1970, will they outbid each other and self-destruct?

It's a suitable riddle for this campaign year and it has a suitable moral: when you're on the high road, don't look down.

Autocrat of the Dining Table

The dining room table should have a concealed microphone. The dialogue, sometimes, is worth taping. Sitting around it—knocking off in 20 minutes what required all afternoon to produce—is an assortment of conversational wizards.

There am I, the handsome cavalier known to the kids as "the sly white fox." I am leader, lead elephant, etc., etc. ad nauseam, although I am often required to re-establish that fact.

There is Kelly, early fortyish, pale blonde, noble wife who allows me to be "lead elephant."

Karen is 19, tall, slender, one-time blonde with saintly face; soph at Broward Community College who thinks life is a most serious matter. Kathi is 17; Senior at Nova High (Gimme an N; Gimme an O; gimme a V; gimme an A), child of fabulous figure who models bridal gowns; sews; took an extra course in biology to dissect boys.

KELLY: How do you plan to vote this year, O Great White Father? ME: I'm not telling. KAREN: I'm voting for McGovern. KATHI: She could never keep a secret. KAREN: Look who's talking! KELLY: Try a little more of the broccoli.

KATHI: She's voting for the first time. ME: I know. KAREN: Isn't anybody going to ask me why I'm for McGovern? KELLY: Here's some gravy for the mashed potatoes. KAREN: I like it on the meat, too. KATHI: Don't tell him. He puts everything in the column. I'm afraid to go to school.

ME: Okay. Let's talk about boys. KAREN: McGovern is a boy. ME: You may have said more than a mouthful. KAREN: I didn't mean it that way. Why do you always have to take everything up wrong? KELLY: Because you haven't learned how to communicate. KATHI: I'll bet she communicates with Mark okay. ME: That will be enough of that.

KATHI: Daddy likes my new bathing suit. ME: Only because it proves I have 20-20 vision. KELLY: What did you think of the Republican convention? ME: The more I thought of it, the less I thought of it. KAREN: Do you understand the issues? The issues are important.

ME: No, dear. I've been waiting half my life for you to grow up and tell me. KAREN: See how he speaks to me? KELLY: Have some broccoli. KATHI: I have more interest in politics than Karen. I listened to both conventions. She watched Doctor Welby.

ME: Any of that strawberry ice cream left? KAREN: How would you describe the Democratic party? KATHI: A mixture of liberals and conservatives. KAREN: And the Republicans? KATHI: A mixture of liberals and conservatives. KAREN: (loftily): Then what is the difference?

KATHI: That's what i keep asking myself. ME: This is a fine pot roast. KAREN: It's a good thing they don't give the vote to 17-year-olds. KELLY: I thought it was a little stringy. KATHI: It must be going to rain. ME: Its clear out. KATHI: The dog is lying on my feet, shivering. ME: Then it's going to rain.

KAREN: That's stating the obvious. If it is clear out, and the dog is on her feet— ME: Have some broccoli. KELLY: Why do I always have to push the broccoli? KATHI: Personally, I could be 20 years on an island without it. ME: I could do without it living in a tent in a broccoli patch.

KELLY: Now stop that. You eat what I put on the table. KAREN: Or go hungry. KATHI: Don't worry, honey. McGovern will feed you. ME: Now stop that. KAREN: Boy-o-boy! For a man who is always preaching freedom of speech and— ME: Outside, that is. At this table, you're in a prison camp. KELLY: Funny man.

KATHI: Tell me, O Great White Father, what do you think of Nixon? ME: The more I think of him— KAREN:—the less you think of him? KELLY: That's your father— ME: I'm not hurt. If I limp a little when I leave the table, it's only a plugged varicose vein.

KAREN (shaking her head): I think that good citizenship requires some study and thought. ME (blowing kiss across table): Of course. I'm just teasing my women. KATHI: I wish you'd hang up the teasing sign. For Karen's benefit, that is. KELLY: How many for ice cream?

ME: Me. KAREN: I think I'll skip it. KATHI: Me, too. KELLY: Me three. KAREN: Daddy, do you really think there is such a thing as a generation gap? ME (with enormous wisdom): If you ask the question, then there is.

KATHI: You're not gonna write one of those raunchy columns out of this little conversation? ME: No. KAREN: Why not? What did I say wrong? ME: On my honor. KATHI: Ha! . . .

U.S. Viet Troop Strength to 25,000 by December

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources expect the number of U.S. troops in Vietnam to fall to about 25,000 men by Dec. 1, some 2,000 fewer than President Nixon's goal for that date.

These sources also predicted Tuesday that the number of troops staying behind will fall to about 20,000 before leveling out to a minimum force.

The President announced Tuesday the latest troop reduction, from about 39,000 at present to 27,000 by Dec. 1. He refused to say whether additional withdrawals would follow.

However, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said the 27,000 will not be the minimum force expected to remain in Vietnam pending a war settlement, meaning another withdrawal is likely.

The President said Tuesday, as he has said before, that some U.S. troops will remain in Vietnam while "there is one prisoner of war in Vietnam or missing in action not accounted for."

The latest troop withdrawal is the 12th under a policy followed by Nixon since shortly after he entered the White House in 1969 when U.S. troops in South Vietnam totaled 543,400.

Laird, who returned Tuesday from a conference with Nixon at the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., said U.S. servicemen remaining in South Vietnam will carry out logistics, air, intelligence and advisory assignments.

The U.S. advisors will be the last to leave. There were hints at the Pentagon that their number will be reduced in the next withdrawal stage.

The bulk of the U.S. air power and more than 100,000 American military men are outside of Vietnam, in Thailand, Guam and aboard warships, from where they continue the attack by air and sea against North Vietnam, supply lines in Laos and enemy troop concentrations in the South.

Nixon said Tuesday the bombing and mining of North Vietnamese harbors will continue until peace negotiations are productive. He said he wants peace on terms that do not "destroy the respect, trust and honor of the United States around the world."

Pentagon sources said the intensity of the air attack could slacken by late fall after an intensified North Vietnamese offensive that is expected in the next couple of months has spent itself.

Communist Push Stopped Near Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese forces employing battletested U.S. tactics have stopped a Communist push on Saigon, military sources said. But fighting stepped up around the capital.

Government forces lost six men clearing a Communist roadblock 23 miles from Saigon Tuesday while other militiamen repaired a bridge blown up on national Highway 1, the road to Cambodia, only 13 miles from the capital.

Near Khiem Hanh, 35 miles northwest of Saigon, three militia platoons—about 100 men—fought a force of about the same size and reported killing 42 guerrillas. Eleven militiamen were killed and 22 wounded, military spokesmen said.

In the fight to recapture Quang Tri City, 400 miles north of Saigon, U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine jet fighter-bombers flew 244 strikes Tuesday, the most since May 3 when they flew 320, U.S. spokesmen said.

Lt. (jg) Craig Woodard of Wichita, Kan., and his wingman, flying A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Hancock, reported starting one large and 10 small secondary explosions when they destroyed two storage areas protected with earthworks 15 miles west of Quang Tri City.

North Vietnamese forces, who still hold the Quang Tri Citadel, bombarded South Vietnamese marines in and near the city with about 1,000 rounds of 130mm artillery and 82mm artillery and mortar fire Tuesday, Saigon spokesmen said.

In the air war against North Vietnam, the U.S. command said U.S. jets flew 200 strikes, about two-thirds the usual number, on Tuesday while tropical storm Cora was moving across the Red River Delta.

In the Saigon area, military sources said more than 1,600 Communist troops poised 40 miles north of the capital recently began moving south with the objective of hitting Saigon before the American presidential elections.

But South Vietnamese commanders in the capital's military region put together a 20,000-man "special mobile force" which struck this week, boxing the Communists into an area northwest of Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon.

The strike force idea was borrowed from the U.S. 199th Infantry Brigade, which operated in the Saigon area in the late 1960's, a military source reported.

The mobile force of combined infantry, ranger and armored cavalry regiments was drawn from the South Vietnamese forces involved in the five-month-old battle along highway 13 from Chon Thanh 40 miles north of Saigon, to the besieged provincial capital of An Loc, 20 miles farther north.

"We have relieved about 70 per cent of the threat to Saigon in the last 48 hours," one officer said.

The source said halting the Communists' mobility cut their chances of carrying out an attack on Saigon by roughly two-thirds. "Before, we couldn't send any force to meet the enemy," the source said. "Now we can and he cannot move."

Lavelle Firing . . . Report Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee has delayed indefinitely a report on the firing of Gen. John D. Lavelle, the former Air Force commander who allegedly ordered unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., said the matter was "still under study" and he did not know when a report would be written.

Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee and the investigating subcommittee, said on June 12 that he expected to report findings by late June.

"Conditions have changed," said Hebert in a telephone interview Tuesday from his New Orleans home. "The Senate has gotten into the act, we haven't been able to get all the papers we want from the Pentagon. It's not a closed case."

A different explanation for the delay came from Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., a committee member who has pushed the Lavelle investigation.

"They're not about to issue a report that's going to embarrass anyone in the military," said Pike.

Hebert scoffed at Pike's contention that the committee was trying to duck the issue.

"Otis Pike is running for reelection and is having a tough time," Hebert said. "All these characters amuse me. Oh hell, I'd be doing the same thing."

In Pike's view the investigations subcommittee is in a quandary. If it exonerates Lavelle it implicitly will be criticizing superiors who last spring removed him from command of the 7th Air Force. Should the subcommittee uphold the firing—which was based on the charge that Lavelle violated standing orders issued by the Joint Chiefs of Staff—it would be condemning an officer for taking actions which many members of the panel have supported.

The Senate Armed Services Committee has decided to explore the case before acting on President Nixon's nomination of Gen. Creighton Abrams to be the next Army Chief of Staff.

Abrams was commander of allied forces in Vietnam during the period that Lavelle's planes conducted their allegedly unauthorized bombing strikes into the North.

Lavelle, in public testimony to the House committee on June 12, indicated, but did not flatly claim, that Abrams was aware Lavelle was at least technically violating orders.

Bobby Fischer Playing It Safe

REYKJAVIK (UPI)—Whatever fireworks U.S. challenger Bobby Fischer brought to Iceland he left in his fourth-floor hotel suite for the 20th game against world chess champion Boris Spassky.

One and a half points away from the world title, the American chess genius was not in a mood to take chances and grandmasters predicted another draw—the seventh in a row—when the game was adjourned on the 41st move after five hours of play Tuesday. The game resumes at 1 p.m. EDT today.

"It's not the Bobby we know and love, but who can blame him," said Yugoslav grandmaster Svetozar Gligoric after referee Lothar Schmid placed Spassky's 41st move in a light brown envelope to be opened at the beginning of play today.

With the challenger watching intently, Schmid sealed the envelope and passed it to Fischer, who pressed the flap several times before signing the back. Spassky had spent 11 minutes alone at the wooden board in deep thought, but made up his mind although he still had another three or four minutes on his clock.

Grandmasters said the champion, playing black, had a slight advantage but predicted a draw.

Fischer has an 11 to 8 point lead and needs another win and a draw, or three draws, to become the first American world champion since the reign of Paul Morphy more than a century ago—well before an organized world championship was in effect.

Spassky, on the other hand, must win three and draw two of the remaining five games to retain the title he won in 1969—a close to impossible feat.

"There are possibilities but whether Spassky has enough to force a win I don't know," said Isaac Boleslavsky, one of the champion's four seconds.

U.S. grandmaster Larry Evans praised the Russian.

"He's playing like a babe reborn in the second half of the match, but it's too late," he said. "Bobby is not scared, but neither is he going out of his way to force a win or create interesting positions."

Bomb Wrecks Auto Showroom

BELFAST (UPI)—A bomb wrecked an automobile showroom in north Belfast early today to cap hours of sporadic sniper shooting throughout the city and the burning of two city-owned buses in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area.

Officials said security forces were given an anonymous five-minute warning before the blast at Logan's Garage in the northern suburb of Newtownabbey. They said there were no direct casualties but an elderly woman living nearby collapsed and died of a heart attack apparently brought on by the shock of the explosion.

It was the first violence-connected death reported officially in the province in more than 24 hours despite one major gunfight, scores of sniping incidents and other bomb blasts.

Irish Republican Army (IRA) snipers fired 10 shots at a police station in the Springfield road but hit no one. More shots were fired on a British army foot patrol in the Lower Falls road.

Ambassador Resigns Post

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Arthur K. Watson, who several months ago was assigned to establish diplomatic contacts with the Communist Chinese in Paris and became involved in a controversy with columnist Jack Anderson, has resigned as U.S. ambassador to France, the Western White House says.

Watson, 53, said in his Aug. 16 letter of resignation to President Nixon that the Paris climate has aggravated his asthma condition, a spokesman said Tuesday.

The former IBM executive, who has held the key diplomatic post since April 16, 1970, asked that his resignation be made effective soon after Labor Day.

Nixon granted his wish, but did not say when he would appoint a successor, the spokesman said.

In a column last March, Anderson charged that Watson got "gloriously drunk" on a transatlantic flight from Washington to Paris shortly after he was assigned to the French capital.

Watson, a major contributor to Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign, denied the accusation.

Anderson also said Watson had a chronic "liquor problem" that could harm the delicate task of setting up relations between the United States and China.

Senate and House Foreign Relations committees investigated the charges and Watson later said the Anderson account was exaggerated.

The investigation was dropped after Secretary of State William P. Rogers wrote that Watson had apoligized for the incident.

Regular Hours

Effective Tuesday, Sept. 5 office hours at the Ulster County Office Building will return to 9 a.m., to 5 p.m., County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago has announced. During July and August the County Office Building closed at 4 p.m. The 9 to 5 hours will start the Tuesday after Labor Day.

Rosendale Supervisor Issues Bus Appeal

ROSENDALE — An appeal to the Public Service Commission to have Adirondack Trailways continue its 7 a. m. bus from Rosendale to Kingston has been made by Rosendale Supervisor Gerard Defelicis.

In telegrams to the PSC, Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Senator Jay P. Rolison, Defelicis asks for a 90-day extension beyond the Sept. 6 date for cessation of the early morning route "to reevaluate the situation with the possibility of keeping the present service going."

Recently John McGarry, director of transportation for Adirondack Trailways, announced the fall schedule of bus runs explaining that the 7 a. m. from Rosendale and 2:45 p. m. from Kingston would be deleted because there were not enough persons riding the two buses to pay for the routes.

Defelicis said he is especially concerned because senior citizens in Kingston will suffer. A number of them told him that if they could not get to work, they could not keep up their homes and would become candidates for public assistance.

The supervisor said that between 12 and 18 persons ride the 7 a. m. bus each day. "That's not too many, but, the bus is essential to them."

Defelicis said the first bus between Rosendale and Kingston, under the new schedule, leaves Rosendale at 10:10 a. m. "That's too late," he said.

LOOKS HARMLESS, BUT — This can of talcum powder looks harmless enough in its brightly decorated can, but health officials in Paris, France, Tuesday, suspect it has caused 24 infant deaths, and a massive drive was on to remove it from the nation's market places. The unofficial death toll attributed to the powder stands at 24. (UPI)

Majority Favor Proposal

TOWN OF OLIVE — Approximately 50 people attended Tuesday night's Town of Olive Zoning Commission hearing on a proposed interim zoning ordinance.

A majority of those at the public hearing were in favor of the proposal, according to Henry Rank, Zoning Commission chairman.

Tuesday's hearing was the last of three held by the Commission.

According to Rank, the Zoning Commission will give the proposed ordinance to the town board before their September meeting along with any recommendations for changes which resulted from the hearings. The board can then alter the proposal as it sees fit.

Before passage of the proposed ordinance the town board will hold one public hearing, as required by law. No date has yet been set for the hearing.

Man Enters Innocent Plea

SHANDAKEN — Charged with criminal possession of stolen property — a car reportedly stolen in Woodstock early Tuesday, Ronald J. Paige, 24, of Suntan Lake, Riverdale, pleaded innocent before Town Justice George Kirk. He was released on bail of $750 pending a hearing later.

First Sergeant Donald Policastro of the sheriff's office, said Paige allegedly had in his possession a vehicle that had been reported stolen from in front of the Woodstock Town Hall.

Deputy Sheriff John Stone, who had been alerted of the missing car, overtook Paige on Route 28 near Big Indian within an hour after the car was reported stolen. Bail of $2,000 was reduced last night to $750.

Investigating Area Cases

TOWN OF ESOPUS — An attempted burglary at a Port Ewen store and the theft of assorted tools from a parked car in that community, were under investigation Tuesday by the sheriff's department.

Harry Short Sr., of 205 Linsdorf Street, complained to authorities Tuesday that a box of tools valued at about $100 had been stolen from a car parked in the driveway of his residence. Deputy Richard Peruse investigated.

First Sergeant Donald Policastro reported that an unsuccessful attempt had been made to enter Smith's store in Port Ewen. Deputy James Hall investigated and learned that a resident had reported she heard someone moving cases of bottles at the rear of the store.

Board Head Is Sentenced To Prison

BUFFALO (AP) — A former president of the Lackawanna Board of Education was sentenced to a four-year prison term Tuesday for soliciting a bribe.

The maximum term was meted out to Ralph J. Fiore, 46, of Lackawanna by Justice Thomas J. Ryan of State Supreme Court.

Fiore was convicted by a jury June 30 on charges of bribe solicitation, receiving a reward for misconduct and official misconduct.

The prosecution accused Fiore of soliciting 28,000 from the general contractor involved in an elementary school construction project.

The contractor, William A. Truckenbrod, testified at the trial that Fiore told him it was customary for unpaid school board members to receive compensation for awarding contracts.

Irving Klein, an architect, testified he gave Fiore $400 in an envolpe and also part of a $17,500 payment Klein received for his services.

In pronouncing sentence Ryan commented, "We hear a lot about bleeding hearts these days — for defendants. This morning my heart bleeds for the taxpayers of Lackawanna."

Fiore remained free on $1,500 bail following the filing of a notice of appeal.

His resignation of his school board seat was accepted by the Lackawanna board last Thursday.

Investigate Burglary

KINGSTON — Assorted tools and cash valued at $1,420 comprised the loot reported stolen during a burglary at the Soper Cabinet and Furniture Company Inc., establishment at 26 Downs Street Monday night or early Tuesday.

Detectives investigated the break-in and reported that the burglar, or burglars, apparently stood on a trunk at the rear of the Downs Street building and then shinnied to the roof to the second floor. A pane of glass was smashed in a door and the latch was opened.

The missing tools included a saw case, disc sander, air sanders, a left handed saw, and an electric drill.

Towel Fire Is Quelled

SHAWANGUNK VALLEY — Firemen from Shawangunk Valley responded to an alarm at 1:38 p.m. Tuesday at the Sunnycroft Ponderosa Ranch in Bruynswick.

Lieutenant Pat Petrucci and 12 volunteers took a pumper and tanker to the resort ranch where they discovered that someone had placed a towel on heated rocks in the resort's sauna bath, causing large quantities of smoke.

The smouldering towel was extinguished without incident and there was no structural damage.

Youths Receive Prison Term

BUFFALO (AP) — Two youths were sentenced to prison terms of 15 years to life Tuesday for the murder of a taxicab driver last fall.

Eugene Anderson, 18, and Timothy Ward, 16, both of Buffalo, were sentenced in State Supreme Court by Justice Gilbert H. King.

King convicted them Aug. 2 in a non-jury trial on charges of murder, attempted first-degree robbery and unlawful possession of a weapon.

The charges arose from the shooting of Martin Grant Jr., 33, as he was making a call from a telephone booth Nov. 19. A sawed-off shotgun and a rifle were found near his body.

King imposed the minimum penalty under law on the murder convictions and ordered the other sentences to be served concurrently.

He remarked to the defendants, "When released, you will be approximately the age of the victim, and you will have the rest of your lives to complete. For Martin Grant Jr., that opportunity is gone forever."

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market opened slightly higher in moderate trading Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 0.75 at 955.45 shortly after the opening. Advances led declines, 237 to 144, among the 543 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to more than 470,000 shares.

Some analysts said Wall Street concentrated its attention Tuesday on Sen. George S. McGovern's outline of his tax program and ignored the stock market. There was virtually no market reaction to the speech.

There was some pickup in activity late in the session, with attention focused on glamors, electronics, computers and airlines, apparently there was some bargain hunting, analysts said.

Deputies Make Second Arrest

TOWN OF ESOPUS — A second arrest in the investigation by the sheriff's office of a complaint reporting $583 was missing from the X-tra Service station in Port Ewen, was made Tuesday night by deputy sheriffs.

First Sergeant Donald Policastro reported Robert Spreitzer of Eddyville, was charged with grand larceny third degree. Spreitzer was araigned before Town Justice Robert Jordan and released in his own custody pending a hearing on Sept. 6. Previously arrested on a similar charge was Spreitzer's brother, Paul John, 29, also of Eddyville. He pleaded innocent before Justice Jordan and was released after posting a $1,000 bond. Policastro said. The investigation was made by Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Deputy Richard Peruse.

State Police Seek Pair

TOWN OF NEW PALTZ — State Police are still searching for the two well-dressed men who bound Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knievel last Thursday and made off with an estimated $10,000 worth of loot from their home at 70 Brookside Road.

The two young men gained admittance to the Knievel home by posing as insurance agents. Once inside, they pulled guns, bound and gagged the elderly couple, and ransacked the house after locking the owners in a downstairs bathroom, according to police reports.

The man allegedly made off with art objects, a silver service, paintings, and approximately $65 in cash.

BCI Senior Investigator Michael Lisman of the Hurley State Police station said the men were apparently aware of what was in the home. He declined to reveal the results of dusting for fingerprints in the ransacked home.

Man Sentenced In Car Chase

SAUGERTIES — Anthony Henderson, 17, of Chapel Street, Norwalk, Conn., was sentenced Tuesday to 10 days in the Ulster County Jail on a charge of criminal possession of stolen property, third degree.

Henderson, who with a companion led Saugerties village police on a wild, half-hour, bullet-punctured car chase through village streets on Aug. 22, pleaded guilty to the charge before Acting Village Justice Robert Schirmer. The stolen property charge stemmed from possession of stolen license plates on the limousine in which the two man evaded police.

Henderson's companion, who escaped on foot in the Canoe Hill area, is still at large. An intensive manhunt, is being conducted.

UCCC Faculty Calls Meeting

By JON POWERS

STONE RIDGE — An emergency meeting of the Faculty Association of Ulster County Community College has been called for Friday morning to discuss the deadlock in contract talks with the Ulster County Legislature.

According to faculty president Allen Duane, Friday's meeting will be called, in part, to brief association members on latest developments in the contract talks. Duane said that the association's Executive Committee will also "recommend positions to be taken by the association in the event of a legislative contract."

While there has been talk of a possible faculty strike at UCCC in the event of a leislative contract, there was no indication that preliminary plans for a strike would be discussed at Friday's meeting.

The Faculty Association has charged that the County Legislature has refused to resume negotiations. It is the association's belief that the county will impose a settlement on the teachers by invoking provisions of the Taylor Law.

Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago, however, has denied that the county will impose a legislative settlement on the teachers.

Following a special meeting of the association's executive committee late Tuesday, Duane told The Freeman that the teachers would not sign a legislative contract. Their refusal to sign a contract would not affect the legality of the pact, but it would leave the door open for later negotiations.

Negotiations between the two sides were declared at an impasse by the county earlier this year. After mediation failed, a PERB-appointed factfinder—Francis X. Doherty of Albany—was called in to issue his recommendations. His report was filed Monday; it will be released to the public Friday; the county has not indicated whether it will accept the factfinder's report.

Today, Doherty declined to comment on his findings as factfinder, although he indicated that he is willing to resume mediation in an attempt to resolve the dispute.

Contract talks between the county and teachers went the same route in 1970. After working without a contract for three months, the faculty set up picket lines outside the college in November, effectively closing the college for several days.

Later, the faculty association was fined by PERB for conducting an illegal strike, but PERB also ruled that the strike was justified because the county had engaged in improper bargaining practices. Duane has indicated that the teachers may file "bad-faith" bargaining charges against the county again this year.

SCHAFFER AND MAYONE CHECK METER OF LOCAL OIL DELIVERY TRUCK

Area Service 'Unheralded'

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

An unheralded service to the residents of Ulster County is the work done by the sealer of weights and measures, who by constant surveillance protects the consumer.

A two-man force in the county, including Sealer Ralph F. Mayone and his assistant William W. Schaffer, completed 2,076 inspections last year.

The inspections included 849 scales of all types as well as farm milk tanks, gasoline pumps and fuel trucks.

There is statistical proof that the constant surveillance pays off, it is noted. A total of 816 scales were shown to be correct when checked. The annual report of the sealer notes that only .008 per cent of the scales tested were shown to be short. This includes computing scales, vehicle, hopper, track, axle, prescription and all miscellaneous scales.

The sealer's report also notes that seven farm milk tanks were calibrated. This is done on a schedule to cover the 205 tanks in this jurisdiction.

The sealers also test 1,200 measures which include gasoline pumps, vehicle meters, bulk plant meters, LP gas meters, liquid and dry measures and miscellaneous measures.

They also check weights including 325 avoirdupois, 20 metric and 15 apothecary.

During the past year, 2,306 commodity packages were weighed, including meat, groceries, fruits and vegetables, dairy products, milk, soap powders and others. Also weighed were charcoal, grain, fertilizer, and coal in bags.

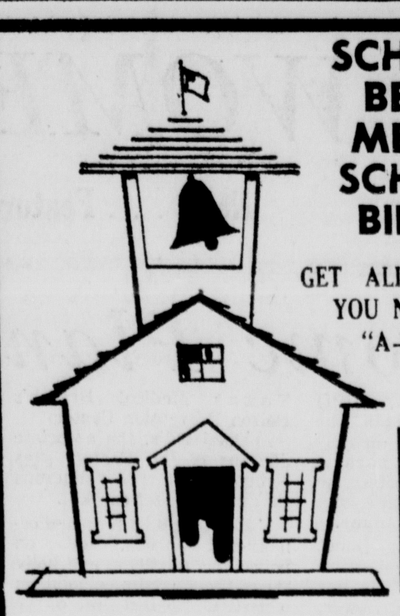

Inspections are made periodically without notice. After inspection the sealer places a sticker with the date of inspection and name of inspector.

The Ulster County consumer is doubly protected. State inspectors also make regular inspections throughout the county and send inspection reports to the sealer, who works out of his home.

Sealer Mayone said that on rare occasions a scale or meter is found to be recording short and most of the times it is not by design. He noted a scale could register the wrong weight if it is not standing level. If there is a malfunction, the sealer tells the business representative, the manager or owner and the scale or meter is removed for repair. In this instance it is not given the seal of approval. When it is repaired, it is again checked and if found correct then receives the seal.

In some cases shrinkage of prepackaged items is found to cause shortweights. In this instance the packages are removed from sale and must be repacked with the proper weight.

The total county budget for the service is $17,262 annually. Dollar for dollar this could be the best bargain the Ulster County consumer enjoys.

Exposition to Jam Chatham Midway

CHATHAM

The Buck-Page exposition will jam the mid-way at the Chatham Fair in this Columbia County community with a half-million dollars worth of rides, games and shows, and scores of new features will be presented at the 132nd consecutive exposition which opens on Thursday, Aug. 31.

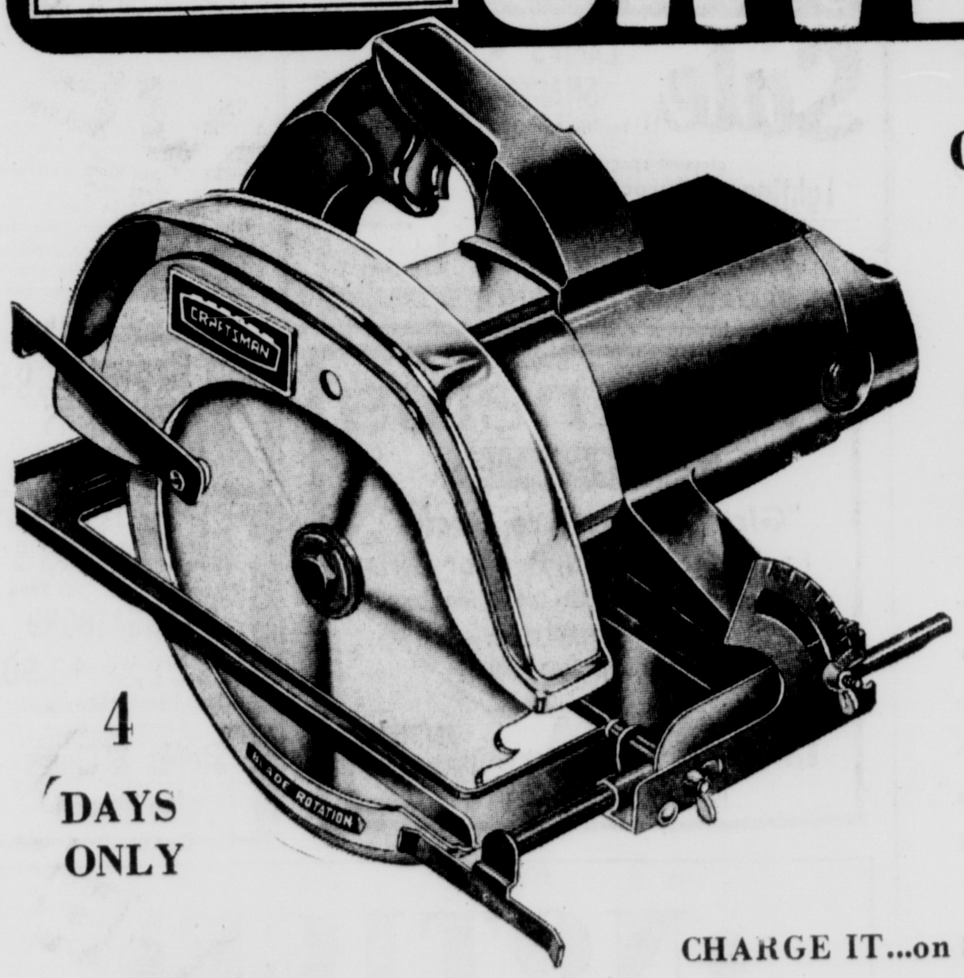

The fair which will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through Labor Day, is recognized as the state's oldest fair. The fair will open officially on Thursday at 5 p.m. with fitting ceremonies.

The diligence of the Board of managers who are determined to give the public the very best that is available at a low price, has made it possible to keep the gate admission down as low as any other county fair and lower than some.

There will be dozens of free exhibits which will include the authentically restored blacksmith shop, the country store, an enlarged antique farm machinery exhibit, the Grange displays for which Chatham Fair is famous, the roving organ grinder and his monkeys, plus 4-H fruit, school work, poultry and farm animals in abundance.

Included among the entertainment features in front of the free grandstand this year are: Joie Chitwood's Auto Thrill Show, preceded by barbershop singing concert, Thursday night; Stoney Roberts Demolition Derby Friday night; six harness races on Friday and Monday afternoons; a two-hour Fireman's parade competition Saturday afternoon; a sky-diving exhibition, Pony Pulling contests and horse show Sunday afternoon; personal appearances Sunday afternoon and evening by Miss Carmel Quinn, singing star of TV, radio and state; personal appearances Monday afternoon and evening by the Four Freshmen, and finally the 35th annual Schoolgirl Queen Coronation Labor Day night. Plus six acts of variety entertainment each day and night.

Some Plants Can Kill You!

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — The child falls to the ground, perspiring heavily and clutching his stomach in pain. Only moments before, he had been quietly playing with a sprig of yellow jessamine.

He has been poisoned, but not by any chemical compound or insecticide. He has been poisoned by a flower, and unless quick action is taken, he may die.

This scene, or one similar to it, is repeated at least 12,000 times annually in the United States. It is one of the major reasons for the existence of the University of Texas Medical Branch's Poison Prevention Center.

Michael Ellis, the associate director of the Center, says some plants are so dangerous that a single leaf can kill.

"Houseplants and ornamental shrubs, such as poinsettia, mistletoe and holly make the Christmas holidays a particularly bad time of the year as far as poisonings are concerned," said Ellis, a graduate student in pharmacology and toxicology.

"The leaves, stems or flowers of poinsettia, green or dry, are poisonous," he said. "They contain vesicant resins. A boy, 2, died after ingesting a single leaf."

Other common plants or flowers which are poisonous are English Ivy, caladium, elephant ear, sweet pea, wisteria, lily of the valley, iris, rhododendron, lantana and buttercup, he said.

Ellis said the jessamine is so poisonous that children have died from sucking the nectar of the blossoms.

"Oleander is so toxic that adults have been poisoned by an oleander twig swizzle stick or a weiner toasted on a branch — green or dry — of the plant," he said.

Certain parts of otherwise edible fruits and vegetables are also extremely toxic," he said. Apple seeds, for example, will not keep the doctor away.

"On the contrary, apple seeds are cyanide producing," he said. "A man ingested a cup full of apple seeds and died of cyanide posioning."

The twigs, brak leaves and pits within the fruit stones of peach and apricot trees all contain cyanide producing compounds.

Death Comes Quickly

"The reaction is rapid with little outward signs of poisoning," he said. "Death usually occurs less than an hour after the material is eaten."

Elllis said rhubarb is a spring tonic, but the leafy part of the plant is poisonous, as is uncooked pokeweed.

"Raw pokeweed produces a burning sensation in the mouth, or severe cramps, vomiting and diarrhea," he said. "If recovery does not occur within 24 hours, pokeweed may be fatally poisonous."

He said there are antidotes for most plant poisonings, however, if the active agent is known.

"In so many of these poisonings, however, what we have is an unidentified proteinaceous substance," he said. "The axion is 'don't leave the patient to look up the antidote' or you may come back with the right answer and find you are too late."

Keeping Chickens Is Easy Work

An article by Patricia Katz of RD 1, Pine Bush, on how to raise a small flock of chickens with little difficulty, appears in the August issue of ORGANIC GARDENING AND FARMING Magazine.

The Katz family has found that keeping chickens is not as troublesome and time-consuming as it first looks. Ms. Katz writes in her article, "Chickens in the Yard," that there are few problems with the birds, once things are set up and one is accustomed to some routine chores.

Chickens fit right in with an organic garden, she declares. After the growing season, she lets them into the garden to eat slugs and insect eggs. In spring and fall, all bedding and manure is cleaned out of the henhouse and composted. The birds are allowed to run free because it makes them easier to care for, healthier, cheaper to feed, and, she contends, they produce tastier eggs and meat. They don't travel far and always come home to roost.

The article goes on to describe such things as the author's relatively simple coop-cleaning schedule and feed formulas, and further records the many pleasures and scant problems the chickens have given her family.

Local Girl Wins Sewing Honors

Gordon Pinkosz, manager of the Singer Company, 324 Wall Street, Kingston, announced today that Miss Suzanne Lown, 17, has been named Queen of Sewing in the Deb Division of the regional Young World Stylemaker Contest held in Latham. Miss Lown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lown of 72 Orchard Street, Kingston.

Miss Lown entered the Young World Stylemaker Contest by enrolling for the teenage sewing course offered by the Singer Company. She was first prize in her division at the local judging and fashion show held August 15 in Kingston. Her ensemble was forwarded to Latham where she competed against 60 local winners. Winners were Miss Lown, Deb Division, ages 16-18; Miss Jeanne Jenkins, Sub-Deb Division, ages 13-15; and Miss Kathy Stack, Junior Miss Division, ages 10-12. Each of the regional Queens of Sewing was awarded a "Golden Touch and Sew" machine by the Singer Co.

This is the 20th anniversary of this contest and the first year that the judging was held in the Capitol district. Formerly it took place in Rochester.

Judges for the regional contest were Lucille Cuddy, newsroom of WGY and WRGB-TV; Peggi Drum, president of Women's Press Club of New York State; and Maeona Wakeman, a Home Economics teacher from Troy.

As a winner in the regional contest, Miss Lown will now go on to the National competition of the Young World Stylemaker Contest to be held in New York City.

DORIAN WOODWIND QUARTET

Maverick Signs Quartet

Insistent public clamor for their return has made possible the appearance of the Dorian Woodwind Quartet at Maverick Hall on Sunday, Sept. 3. A bounty of music will be heard Labor Day weekend when the consumate artistry of the Quartet will take over the stage of the famed hall.

Organized in 1961 under a Fromm Foundation grant at Tanglewood, the Dorian Quartet has become an outstanding participant in the world of chamber music. It has concertized throughout America, and last spring, flew to Europe to do a one week tour under the auspices of the U.S. State Department. The group concertized in London, Berlin, Zurich and Rome to triumphant approval by local critics. This year's countrywide tour will include two concerts at Hunter College in New York City.

The Dorian Quartet fills the need for a permanent organization of virtuoso windplayers to perform the masterworks of the woodwind literature. The members of the Quartet are first-class players of rare technical capability.

Two of the Quartet members have been with the group since its inception: Jane Taylor, bassoon, is a product of Queens College Music Department. She has performed with the American Symphony, the Little Orchestra Society, and at the Marlboro Festival. Miss Taylor is presently on the faculty of the Mannes College of Music. Karl Kramer, flute, has a BA degree in music from Harvard. He had a Fulbright grant to Italy for two years where he studied with Jean-Pierre Rampal, the famed flutist. He has been a soloist with the Rome Philharmonic and has performed for radio-TV all over Europe. He served as creative associate under Lukas Foss at the University of Buffalo.

Barry Benjamin, French horn, is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, and has been a soloist with the Rochester Symphony, the Eastman Wind Ensemble, and a member of the famed New York Brass Quintet. He has lectured on the French Horn at both Cornell and Yale Universities.

Jerry Kirkbride, clarinet, received his Bachelor of Music degree from University of S. California where he studied with Mitchel Lurie. He was awarded a Fulbright grant to Rome for two years and attended the Santa Cecilia Conservatory where he worked with Nadia Boulanger and Efrem Kurtz among others. He performed with the Virtuosi di Roma under Renato Fasano and was first clarinet with the Metropolitan Opera and San Francisco ballet.

The Quartet will play a program of baroque, classical and contemporary pieces, many of which are rarely heard because the combination of the instruments needed are only occasionally available. Works to be presented will be by Mozart, three English pieces circa 1655-65, Milhuad, Villa-Lobos, and Libbert. And for a bonus there will be a rare and melodius quartet by Rossini.

This concert is required attendance for lovers of wind music. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Basil Eliescu of Woodstock.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a hired companion to an 88-year-old invalid woman. She is very wealthy and lives in a luxurious mobile home with every convenience you could imagine. I occupy the back bedroom of her mobile home. I am well paid, but here's my problem:

This lady smokes constantly and has frequently fallen asleep with a lit cigaret between her fingers.

I work from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m. caring for her, and I need my rest, but I'm afraid to go to sleep because she gets up during the night, lights a cigaret and falls asleep.

This lady is friendly with the manager of the trailer court, who knows about her smoking, but does nothing about it. Her doctor also knows because I have told him. He also has done nothing.

Abby, I am so afraid that one night she will set fire to this mobile home. What can be done?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You must persuade the lady that for her own safety she must either turn in her matches at bedtime or hire a companion for the night shift. And for heaven's sake, implore her doctor and the manager of the court to take some action!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: If a girl is single and free to date, has a child, and a fellow wants to take her out, should the fellow pay for the babysitter? Or should the gal pay for it herself? In this case, the girl has limited funds, and the man is aware that she has a child.

Should she just drop a hint, or come right out and say, "I'm sorry, I can't go out this evening because I can't afford a sitter," and then wait for him to offer or what?

I feel that if a man can afford to date a girl, he should consider the sitter a part of the expense of dating, right?

SHORT OF MONEY

DEAR SHORT: Paying the sitter should be the mother's responsibility. If the gentleman offers to pay for the sitter, fine, but anything resembling a "hint" would be in poor taste.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 20s and have been married for five years. Neither my husband nor I wants children. We do not like children, and we do not need them. Ever since we have been married, all I have heard from the community is "When are you going to have children?" I am so sick and tired of hearing this asinine and rude question that I could scream: I am beginning to feel as tho I should have been a salmon—a simple creature that lives only to spawn and then die. That is the way most people seem to regard young married women.

Well, I have news for them! I am perfectly happy with my life as it is. I have no desire or "urge" to have children. I have a good job that makes me feel needed and useful. I feel as tho I am doing my part for mankind in earning my own support and doing a much needed job. And if those nosy people think that I'm missing the "joy" of supporting children, just let them look at my tax bills. I'm busy enough supporting children of those people who don't have enough sense to use birth control. I don't need any more bills.

I'm no dope—I have a good mind, and I contribute as much to the working force as any man, and I think that if that is enough for my satisfaction, it should satisfy the old biddies in the community.

So, please, Dear Abby, tell these rude and insensitive people to stop trying to make a girl feel useless unless she has a dozen kids trailing behind her. I am as useful and feminine as any mother (more then most) and I intend to stay that way. The doldrums of childraising are not for me. Give me a challenging and rewarding business career any day!

SIGNED: SMART—NOT SENTIMENTAL

DEAR SMART: You've already told 'em. But good!

Doing the Right Thing

Dear Mrs. Post:

I attended a funeral recently where nobody — not even anyone from the funeral home itself — greeted the callers. The coffin was closed, the room in which it lay was closed. Not even the widow was in sight.

Many people — some very busy professional colleagues — had come from a great distance to pay their respects. Everyone milled around in wonderment. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this.

MRS. B.

Dear Mrs. B.:

It was inexcusably rude of the bereaved family not to have had one of their members present to greet callers. If that were impossible at a certain time, someone from the funeral home should have been in attendance.

Is it possible that the family could have been confused about the hours announced for visiting? That is the only excuse I can imagine for their behavior, and it is small wonder that the callers were confused.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Birth of Perfume

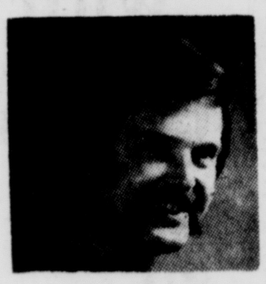

How is a perfume born? Well here's how it happened to "collage," Adele Simpson's special fragrant product. Miss Simpson's publicist says Miss Simpson spent two years sniffing at bits of blotting papers bearing drops of many blends before she selected the one she considered the essence of "everything beautiful." See? It is a mixture of the scents of wild flowers, moss and woodland, Miss Simpson's publicist says.

AUTOGRAPHING PARTY — Co-authors of the book A HORSE AROUND THE HOUSE were guests of honor at an autographing party given Saturday, Aug. 26 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Hurley Saddle Shop, Old Route 209, Hurley. The party was co-sponsored by the Saddle Shop and Catskill Book Shop of Woodstock. The authors, Marcia Hayes and Patricia Kelly Jacobson, seated (L-R) welcomed a capacity attendance. Standing with them are (L-R) Elise Twine and Eleanor Davis, co-hostesses. (Freeman photo by Powell)

Authors Delighted With Party

HURLEY — Running against heavy odds — 90 degree weather and a big horse show across the river — "A Horse Around the House" still made it to the winner's circle at an autograph party here Saturday.

Every available copy of the new book, including the authors' own, were sold out during the 2-hour affair at the Hurley Saddle Shop — a total of 65 copies. And authors and hosts were delighted.

"I've never seen this happen before. It's terrific," said Donald Twine, owner of the Catskill Book and Record Shop in Woodstock, which co-sponsored the affair. "I thought we might have ordered too many copies, but I'm happy to say I was wrong. I think this book is going to have a great track record."

Authors Pat Kelly Jacobson and Marcia Hayes didn't put down their pencils for the duration of the party, as adults and children waited in line for autographs. Several guests bought more than one book as a birthday gift for nieces and nephews.

"It's a marvelous book, witty and entertaining as well as practical," said Mrs. Harold Davis, who co-hosted the party with her son Robert. "It's a perfect gift selection."

"A Horse Around The House" (Crown, $6.95) is a hardheaded, lighthearted guide to everything you've always wanted to know about horses and questions you shouldn't be afraid to ask before buying one. The book is filled with over 200 practical and amusing illustrations by Mrs. Jacobson, a well-known local riding instructor, who did the drawings under her maiden name — Pat Kelly.

The Forward is by Olympic riding star Frank Chapot, who is riding with the first U.S. team in Munich this week. Says Chapot: "This book does for horse owners what Dr. Spock has done for a generation of new parents."

Horse lovers who couldn't make it to Saturday's party may order copies of a Horse Around The House at the Hurley Saddle Shop or at Twine's Catskill Book Store in Woodstock. Arrangements will be made to have them autographed by the authors at a future date.

Brings Spa to You

"A new concept" in beauty care and skin treatment comes in a spray can. You might call it a touch of a spa in an aerosol can. A French spa. The water in the spray can is from La Bourboule, one of the most renowned spas in Europe. The waters, says the cosmetic firm canning it, is famous for treatment of skin problems. It is packaged in the aerosol can instead of a bottle because thermal water for the skin loses it beneficial biological properties if repeatedly exposed to the air, says the cosmetic firm.

Polari Gallery Opens Final Show; Paintings, Ceramics

The Polari Gallery opened its final show of the season last Sunday with a small group show of paintings, prints and ceramics.

Featured in the show are the sand paintings of Agnes Hart. Miss Hart's use of sand as a medium produces a calm intensity. She sets textured forms floating within a space created by the forms themselves. In so integrating the sand with her painted colors, she adopts the special character of its medium into an art form. The mood she evokes is a human response.

Miss Hart had a solo exhibit of her work at the Phoenix Gallery where she won high praise from Arts Magazine, Art News and other professional art publications.

Also to be seen in this exhibit are works by Ansel Chasteen, Mary Earley, Eva Plaut, Dorothy Greenpepper, Julio DeDiego and Paul Tucker and ceramic sculpture by Billie Luisi, Sophia Fenton and Norman Bacon. There is also jewelry by Sandra Shaw and Ray Kenyon. The Gallery closes for the season Labor Day, Sept. 4.

Prize Winning Recipe For French Apple Bread

In an Apple Temptation Cooking Contest sponsored by the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture and the New York-New England Apple Institute, a loaf of quick bread won first prize. Mrs. James Haley, a bride of eight months, submitted the recipe — one that her grandmother had given her, and that she had made many times. One of 1,500 entries, French Apple Bread won top honors and a substantial cash prize for this 22 year old teacher, whose husband is a graduate student of chemistry at Brandeis University. She is also a student, studying law at night at Suffolk University, so most of her cooking is done on week ends and frozen for use during the week.

French Apple Bread is moist, rich and sweet. We liked it served for dessert, with whipped cream cheese as a spread. You will like it, too. Use summer apples, or one of the early fall varieties available now, in making it.

* * *

French Apple Bread

Two cups sifted all-purpose flour

One-half teaspoon baking soda

One teaspoon baking powder

One teaspoon salt

Three-fourths cup butter or margarine, melted

Two-thirds cup sugar

Three eggs, slightly beaten

One-fourth cup applesauce

One cup peeled, finely diced apples

One-half cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

One-fourth cup chopped walnuts

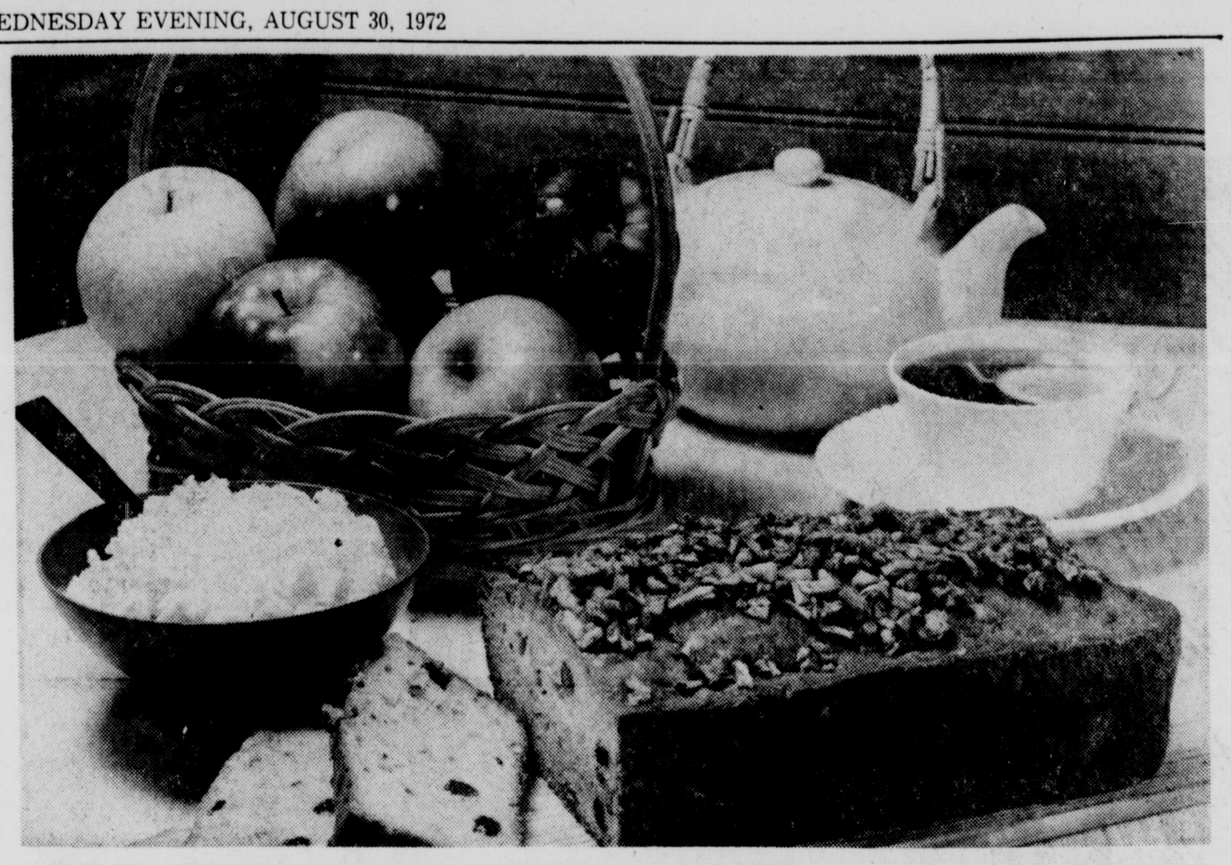

One-third cup seedless raisins

One-half cup grated apple

Three small pats butter or margarine

One tablespoon cinnamon-sugar

Mix and sift flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt. Combine melted butter and two-thirds cup sugar; stir until thoroughly blended. Stir in eggs, applesauce, one cup diced apples, cheese, nuts and raisins. Stir in dry ingredients; mix well. Spoon into well-greased loaf pan, 8x5x3 inches. Bake at 375 degrees for 50 minutes or until loaf tests done. Remove from oven. Sprinkle grated apples on top; place pats of butter on loaf at intervals; sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar. Return to oven; bake 5 to 8 minutes longer.

CAMPAIGN THEME — "Thanks to You Its Working" is the United Way campaign theme for this year's fund raiser. Announcing the theme are (L-R) Francis Kugelman Jr., public relations chairman; Mrs. Barbara Rogers, public relations committee member and Alfred J. Brocco, campaign chairman. The United Way Campaign for Ulster County will get underway Wednesday, Sept. 13 with more than 800 volunters participating. A goal of $404,000 must be raised to meet the minimum requirements of the 15 member agencies of United Way. (Reynolds photo)

Retarded Children...Many Programs

KINGSTON — The Ulster County Association for Retarded Children with the support of United Way Funds attempts to provide wide ranging programs for the retarded of the area.

Thanks to You It's Working

15 in x 1

The association was started in 1956 by a group of concerned parents. At that time it was the goal to provide programs for retarded children who could not participate in existing programs. In 1972 with United Way support, the association has come a long way in fulfilling the original goal. ARC operates a nursery for preschool trainable retarded children, a summer camp for school aged retarded children and a work activities center for the adult retarded.

The summer camp program for children six to 21 years of age provides an enjoyable summer experience for retarded children. Activities include arts and crafts, music games and other outdoor fun. The camp is directed by a certified special education teacher and his staff of college students interested in the field of special education.

The nursery program serves children two to five years old. Its goal is to train children in a classroom setting and prepare them for attendance at one of the areas public schools for the trainable child. The program is under the direction of a certified teacher with two aides working in the classroom situation. Classes emphasize among other things, toilet training, peer group interaction, hand to eye coordination, recognition of shapes and objects and adjustment to a school day routine.

The work activities program for the adult retarded serves those who have graduated from public schools or who are not being served by another facility. The program has two goals reflecting the nature of the client population served. For those who are capable, the program provides training aimed at eventual placement in competitive employment. For others, the program provides meaningful social contacts and a sense of personal accomplishment and self worth through the work experience. The program is staffed with a workshop directress and a male aide to guide the 18 adults.

In addition to these programs the association provides casework and referral services for families with retarded children. Counseling for those seeking a public or private residence for retarded child is provided by the association and is perhaps the casework service most often sought by local residents. Referral services sought by families are to social services department for aid to the disabled, to local professional services such as physical therapists, doctors, dentists and other community organizations which serve the handicapped.

NEW

A bit of Americana passing from the modern scene is the familiar neighborhood delicatessen. These friendly stores, often family operated, jealously guarded their preparation secrets. The same traditions are being carried on in the delicatessen departments of today's modern food markets. Prepared beans displayed and sold from open pans are still one of their most popular foods.

Now, from the kitchens of Grandma Brown comes an entirely new bean product—created from famous delicatessen recipes enjoyed over the years. Instantly ready for any occasion. Just heat and serve.

COG . . . . 'No Word on Eviction, No Place to Go'

By WADE BURKHART

ULSTER HEIGHTS — The Children of God in Ulster Heights still have not received formal word of their eviction, and still have no place to go, according to what COG spokesmen said Tuesday.

Both COG elders and COG attorney Ben Noble, of Washington, D.C., said they had not received formal word of the eviction. Noble said he had written Town of Wawarsing Justice Maurice Rosenstock for a copy of the eviction order Rosenstock signed last week, but he had not yet received it.

When formal notification is recieved, Noble said the COG plan to file an appeal, possibly through a local legal aid office.

"So far we're aware of the eviction order only by hearsay," said Noble.

The search for another settlement for the Ulster Heights colony of the fundamentalist evangelical sect is continuing, according to a COG elder who identified himself as Huran, with no results.

Mrs. Mary Weiler, a COG elder known in the settlement as Mara, said firmly, "The Lord is just going to have to do something."

"I just trust in God," she said. "I know God is going to supply."

What is needed is a place to live for about 30 COG members and nine children. COG members have said they are looking for a place in the Ellenville area, if possible.

The COG have been sending people out from the Ulster Heights settlement to keep it trimmed to 30 members, Mrs Weiler said, and most of the nearby COG settlements were now full.

Noble said the COG were pursuing action against Ulster County Sheriff William Martin as the result of a recent missing persons raid Martin conducted at the COG Ulster Heights and Cragsmoor settlements.

The attorney said a complaint filed at the time with the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be augmented with additional information. According to Noble, the additional information would be submitted to the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Justice Department in Washington, D.C.

Martin's raids on the COG were apparently in search of the son of Capt. Leonard Mandelkorn, USN ret., and Melissa Moody, for whom a writ of habeas corpus was signed by Supreme Court Judge John L. Larkin of Kingston.

Noble said the Mandelkorn boy was now in Washington, D.C., and Noble said he had spoken to him Tuesday afternoon, and asked him to call his parents.

Melissa Moody was not at the COG colony when Martin came there, according to Noble. He said he had also been in contact with her, and she would write a letter to Larkin to "ease his mind."

He said the Moody girl did not want her parents to know where she is.

Youth Corps Grant Confirmed

KINGSTON — The announcement of a $58,000 grant for a year-round out - of - school Neighborhood Youth Corps Project sponsored by the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County has been confirmed by the office of Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr.

The new federally funded project will be geared toward placing 20 Ulster County school dropouts in meaningful employment positions with non-profit organizations or public agencies. It will also provide weekly counseling and remedial education services.

The official starting date for the new project was Aug. 21. It will continue through Aug. 20, 1973.

The project provides 26 hours of work, one hour of counseling and one hour of remedial education per enrollee. Compensation for work will be paid at the rate of $1.60 per hour.

Youths in the age range of 16 to 17 will make up 90 per cent of the enrollees. The remaining 10 per cent will be aged 18 to 19. Eligibility for the program will be up to 24 months unless the enrollee returns to school full-time or is gainfully employed elsewhere during that period. To be eligible, family income must meet federal poverty guidelines.

James R. Billups, YMCA Community Program Director, will be heading the new year-round project. He has stated that job sites will be selected not only because of their need, but also must offer a full scale, well-developed program which will train the youths in employable skills.

At the core of the program's efforts is the counseling and remedial education program. Placed within the program's context, individual and group sessions will be organized and run by counselors who are responsible for getting to know the young people and for helping them to know themselves.

The Kingston YMCA has had experience in administering annual summer Neighborhood Youth Corps in-school projects for the past six years. During that period over 800 low-income youths have been placed in positions. The total expenditure has come up to $342,000, of which $300,000 has been paid by the federal government. The balance was provided locally in (in kind) services, according to YMCA general director, Robert D. Stubbs.

Man Killed In Accident

TOWN OF SAUGERTIES — A 23-year-old New Jersey man was fatally injured at 5:20 p.m. Tuesday, when the car he was operating along the State Thruway went out of control and overturned twice, ejecting the operator near mile post 97.3 (north) in this township.

Thruway State Police identified the victim of the mishap as Patrick McGovern of Old Bridge, N.J.

A passenger in the vehicle, Raymond Roessner, 22, of Richmond, Vt., suffered multiple injuries, according to troopers. Both men were removed from the scene of the accident to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance of Kingston.

McGovern was pronounced dead on arrival. Roessner was treated for multiple lacerations of the back and other injuries. He was admitted for further observation and treatment.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser investigated the fatality with State Trooper R. J. Reilly of the Thruway detail.

According to Reilly's report, McGovern was traveling along the superhighway at an apparent high speed proceeding in the southbound lane when the left rear tire blew out causing the operator to lose control. The vehicle spun around to the center dividing mall and rolled over at least two times.

McGovern was ejected. The car came to a stop on the northbound lane. Passing motorists went to the aid of the two men, and assisted Roessner from the wrecked vehicle.

The New Jersey motorist was listed as Ulster County's 32nd traffic fatality of 1972. The 32nd highway death in 1971 was recorded by authorities on Aug. 24. The victim of that mishap was a 3-year-old Highland girl who was killed when a car driven by her father was rammed in the rear by a vehicle operated by a 30-year-old Town of Esopus man. That mishap occurred on Route 299 in the Town of Lloyd.

McGovern was the sixth person killed in highway accidents in Ulster County this month.

State Fair Opens .. Record Crowds

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Humid air and mid-70's temperatures, a hazy sky and bumper-to-bumper traffic didn't stop a record crowd from surging through the turnstiles on the opening day of the 131st New York State Fair Tuesday.

Last year's opening day attendance figure was surpassed by about 3:30 p.m. and when the gates closed at 10:00 p.m. 102,136 persons had made the visit, eclipsing the previous first-day record of 76,961 set in 1970.

The activity at the 360-acre fairground just west of here commenced Tuesday with a red and yellow balloon rising 50 feet over a grassy field. State Agriculture Commissioner Frank Walkley and Fair Director Bernard W. Potter signalled the fair's beginning by climbing into a basket under the tethered, 80-foot balloon and snipping a ribbon connected to the speaker's platform.

The crowds were considerably reinforced by those drawn to the free afternoon and evening performances by singers Sonny and Cher. Fair officials said the afternoon performance alone drew 30,000 persons.

At mid-day, traffic on U.S. 690, a major highway linking downtown Syracuse with the Thruway, was moving at a snail's pace for more than two miles on each side of the fairground.

The first two days of the fair feature free admission to all person's 16 and under, traditionally swelling attendance.

Turner Nabbed In Florida

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Glenn W. Turner, 37-year-old millionaire and founder of a giant corporate empire, was arrested early today as he stepped from his private jet at Sanford Airport, Seminole County deputies said.

The Orlando businessman, head of Glenn W. Turner Enterprises, was charged with violating the Uniform Sales and Securities Law, said Seminole County Deputy Russ Corley.

Turner was taken to the county jail here. He immediately posted $20,000 bond and was released, Corley reported.

Last Tuesday, law officers from Pinellas and Orange counties sealed off the main Turner headquarters in Orlando and seized records belonging to Dare To Be Great, Inc., a subsidiary of Turner's 70-firm conglomerate.

Turner protested the confiscation, but a Pinellas County circuit judge subsequently ruled that the documents had been taken lawfully.

Turner had challenged the right of a state attorney's office to seize records in an investigation in which no indictments or arrest warrants had been issued. Pinellas County State Attorney Richard Eagan said last week that the investigation was being carried on solely by authorities in that county.

Luis Tiant...Mr. Excitement of '72

By the Associated Press

When the Boston Red Sox won their last pennant in 1967, Jose Santiago was the pitcher who brought them through an exciting stretch run.

Meet Mr. Excitement of 1972—Luis Tiant.

"I think that he's as good as any righthander in the American League right now," said Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner after Tiant pitched a 3-0 beauty against his White Sox Tuesday night.

Tiant, 9-4, recorded his third straight shutout and fifth straight victory with a five-hitter — an impressive performance reminiscent of Santiago's spectacular finish in '67 when he won eight games in a row.

All five of Tiant's last starts have been complete games. He's allowed just five earned runs, 21 hits and six walks while striking out 37 batters in that time.

Tiant'slatest triumph kept the Red Sox three games behind the leaders in the tingling American League East race.

The Baltimore Orioles trounced the Minnesota Twins 9-4 and pulled into a first-place tie with Detroit after the Tigers lost 3-1 to the California Angels.

The American League West race was no less uncertain in after Tuesday night's action. Chicago's loss dropped the White Sox into second place and the Oakland A's took over the top spot by a half-game after beating the Cleveland Indians 1-0.

The New York Yankees beat the Texas Rangers 7-6 in 11 innings in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 7-4, and the Kansas City Royals defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 6-4 in other American League action.

Tiant was tough Tuesday night after his teammates gave him a two-run working margin in the first inning. Reggie Smith's double drove in one run and Carlton Fisk knocked in another with a single.

Bobby Grich drove in four runs with a grand slam homer and triple as Baltimore beat Minnesota despite Harmon Killebrew's milestone home run. Killebrew hit No. 536 of his career, tying him with Mickey Mantle for fourth place on the all-time list.

UND Take Two AL Rdp: list.

Killebrew admitted that his first-inning home run gave him initial satisfaction, but the Twins' eighth straight loss took most of it away.

'My hit helped us take a lead and I thought that we were finally going to get going," said Killebrew. "Maybe the worm was going to turn, but it wasn't going to be."

Rudy May fired a four-hitter and Leo Cardenas came through with a two-run single in the eighth to lead California over Detroit. Bill Freehan got three of the hits off May, including a home run in the ninth.

Bert Campaneris drove in the only run of the game with a fifth-inning single and Jim "Catfish" Hunter and Darold Knowles combined on a three-hitter to pace Oakland's triumph.

The Yankees won their first game as Johnny Callison drove in the winning run with an 11th-inning single. Ted Ford's tie-breaking homer touched off a four-run uprising in the seventh inning to give Texas the second game.

Kansas City pounded 10 singles in the second and third innings, including two each by Carl Taylor, Lou Piniella and Bobby Knoop, for six runs en route to its victory over Milwaukee.

NO. 536 — Twins' Harmon Killebrew (R) is congratulated by teammate Rod Carew after he belted his 536th career home run to tie him with Mickey Mantle for fourth place on the all-time home run list. It was Harmon's 21st of the season. (UPI)

Williams Carries a Big Stick

Billy Williams talks softly but carries a big stick.

The veteran Chicago outfielder, one point behind Houston's Cesar Cedeno in the National League batting race, slapped an opposite field, two-run double in the sixth inning Tuesday to give the Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Williams, who at 34 has never won either the batting championship, home run or RBI crown, has openly admitted on several occasions his desire for the batting title.

"Its something I've never done," Williams said. "I'd like to do it at least once."

Williams, whose accomplishments had long been overlooked because of his mild-mannered personality, raised his batting average to .340 with his game-winning hit Tuesday afternoon. He is hitting .408 at cozy Wrigley Field.

Bill Singer, who has not beaten the Cubs in more than three years, was coasting along with a two-hit shutout until one out in the sixth when shortstop Bill Russell booted Don Kessinger's one-hop bouncer for an error. Jose Cardenal singled and Williams accounted for both runners with his double.

The victory, Chicago's eighth in its past 11 contests, tightened the Cubs' hold on second place in the National League East.

"Eight of 11?" asked Cubs' manager Whitey Lockman. "There's no doubt that this club is capable of playing that way. They've played that way before. I don't think there's a man in this building who doesn't think we have a chance."

In other National League games Pittsburgh downed San Diego 5-3, New York blanked Cincinnati 3-0, Houston edged Philadelphia 2-1, San Francisco shut out St. Louis 3-0 and Montreal nipped Atlanta 4-3.

Willie Stargell slammed his third home run in two days and drove in two runs as the Pirates downed San Diego. Stargell now has 31 homers and 101 RBIs.

Home runs by Ken Boswell, Tommy Agee, and Ed Kranepool powered the Mets over Cincinnati. The homers were three of five hits Jack Billingham yielded while suffering his 11th loss against 10 victories. The solo homers by Boswell and Kranepool came in the fourth inning and ended a string of 24 scoreless innings for Billingham, who struck out 10.

Lee May led off the last of the ninth inning with his 27th homer to snap a 1-1 tie and give Houston its victory over Philadelphia. May homered off relief pitcher Mac Scarce, who had just entered the game.

Dave Kingman slammed a bases-loaded double in the top of the ninth and Jim Barr hurled a three-hitter to lead San Francisco over the Cardinals. Third baseman Dwain Anderson made a poor throw on Jim Howarth's leadoff grounder in the ninth for an error. After Reggie Cleveland hit Chris Speier, Ken Henderson sacrificed both runners. Cleveland intentionally walked Dave Rader to set up Kingman's game-winning hit.

East German Women Tie Record

Spitz Bids for Fourth Goldie

MUNICH (UPI)—Mark Spitz successfully began his bid for a fourth consecutive gold medal and an East German women's relay team tied a world record today during preliminary heats of the Olympic swimming competition.

In addition to the 3:58.1 world mark turned in by the East German 400-meter freestyle team, four other Olympic swim records were set, two of which were wiped out even before the morning ended.

Spitz, the 22-year-old dental student from Carmichael, Calif., who already has won three gold medals and shared in three world records here, made his only appearance in a preliminary of the men's 100-meter butterfly. Although he was third at the turn he had the best time of the heat with 56.4 Bruce Robertson of Canada also did 56.4.

Fourteen-year-old Jennie Wylie of Mountain View, Calif., was the only American to set an Olympic record today as she turned in a time of 4:27.5 in the opening heat of the women's 400-meter freestyle. However, Novella Calligaris of Italy came along in the final heat to take that away with a time 4:24.1.

The two other U.S. entrants, Shirley Babashoff of Fountain Valley, Calif., and Keena Rothhammer of Little Rock, Ark., both 15-year-olds, also qualified for tonight's final.

The other Olympic record went to Gunnar Larsson of Sweden, whose time of 4:35.0 in his heat of the men's 400-meter individual medley lowered the mark of 4:37.5 which had been set in the previous heat by Andres Hargitay of Hungary.

All three U. S. entrants — Steve Furniss of Southern California, Tim McKee of the University of Florida and world record holder Gary hall of Indiana —qualified for tonight's final.

East Germany set its relay record in the first trial heat.

A United States team consisting of Kim Peyton, Sandra Nielson, Jane Barkman, and Shirley Babashoff had originally set the mark just 11 days ago at Knoxville, Tenn.

The East German team which tied the record was composed of Andrea Eife, Sylvia Eichner, Elke Schmisch and Kornelia Ender.

The U.S., using only Miss Barkman and Miss Peyton from its record-holding quartet, won the second heat of the semi-finals in 3:58.9.

Swimming with Miss Barkman, from Wayne, Pa., and Miss Peyton, from Portland, Ore., were Lynn Skrifvars of Downey, Calif., and Ann Marshall of Fort Lauderdale.

Miss Peyton put the American girls in front on the first leg with a time of 1:00.1 for her leg and Misses Skrifvars and Barkman maintained a comfortable edge for Miss Marshall, who completed the final 100 meters in a quick 58.8.

Also qualifying for tonight's final were Australia, swimming without Shane Gould, Holland, Canada, Hungary, West Germany, and Sweden.

Andras Hargitay of Hungary took almost eight seconds off the Olympic record for the men's 400 meters individual medley in the first qualifying heat of that event.

Hargitay won the race in 4:37.5, breaking the mark of 4:45.4 set by Dick Roth of the United States in 1964.

The Olympic record lasted only as long as it took to run the second heat, as Sweden's Gunnar Larssen, who has trained in the U. S., lowered the mark to 4:35.0. Larssen swam virtually alone for the second half of the race as he finished 15 seconds ahead of runner-up John McConnochie of New Zealand.

'Other' U.S. Swimmers Moving Center Stage

MUNICH (UPI)—Mark Spitz smiles, bows and steps aside today —leaving the spotlight to teammate Garry Hall and Olympic glorymate Shane Gould of Australia.

Spitz, a 22-year-old dental student from Carmichael, Calif., Tuesday won his third gold medal and set his third world record in two days. This one was in the 200-meter freestyle in 1:52.8, topling his old mark of 1:53.5.

He called it a milestone.

"With my victory Tuesday I have broken 31 world records," he said. "Now I think I can relax."

But he has a chance for seven golds this week. Can be relax and do it? He won't say.

He has done a complete reversal from the cocky, 18-year-old who told sportswriters in 1968 how good he was and then flopped in the Olympics, failing to win a single individual gold medal. Now, Spitz says no more than he'll do his best at news conferences which his coaches time with a stop watch.

But all Spitz has to do today is qualified in the 100-meter individual medley and 100-meter butterfly, another event where he holds the world's record. The finals will be Thursday.

Swimming golds today will be awarded in the men's 400-meter breaststroke and the women's 400-meter freestyle and 400-meter freestyle relay.

Hall, 21, of Garden Grove, Calif., who finished second to Spitz in the 200-meter butterfly Monday, holds the world record in the 400-meter medley and is the favorite. John Hencken of Santa Clara, Calif., and Japan's Nobutaka Taguch are cofavorites in the 100-meter breast-record holder in the 400-meter freestyle and is expected to ease back on line in her quest for five golds. She already has one, but finished third in the 100-meter freestyle Tuesday.

Sandra Neilson of El Monte, Calif., beat her in an Olympic record time of 58.6, but shy of Miss Gould's world mark of 58.5.

"I don't believe it," Miss Neilson said.

Shirley Babashoff of Fountain Valley, Calif., considered America's best swimmer at this distance, finished second in 59 flat and Miss Gould came in at 59.1.

The U. S. team picked up seven medals in swimming during the day. Steve Genter of Lakewood, Calif., who suffered a collapsed lung four days ago, finished second to Spitz and two Americans came in behind East Germany's Roland Matthes in the 100-meter backstroke.

The seven medals brought the U.S. total for the games to 15, tops among the 122 teams. East Germany is next with 9 and Russia is third with 7.

Schoenbacher Does His Stint

SAUGERTIES

Bob Schoenbacher upstaged the Village Cobbler's drive to second place in the last game of the Saugerties Softball League's Blue Division. Needing three hits and one RBI to win the league's crowns in those catagories, Schoenbacher drove in a run with his third and last hit of the night, but his Boo's Tavern mates dropped the game, 6-5.

Both teams finished the season with 9-5 records, three games behind Rosner's Hooples in the standings. Schoenbacher batted .565 for the season and totaled 22 RBI's. The Blue Division homer crown went to Herb Whitaker of the champs with six.

The Cobblers took an early lead in the finale on John Carnright's homer, but Boo's, powered by pitcher Don Minkler's circuit, surged back to go ahead in the fifth. The Cobblers knotted it with a solo run in the sixth before the last score gave Joe Brocco his seventh win against three defeats.

The results:

Korean Apology

MUNICH (UPI)—North Korean officials have apologized for their Olympic shooting champion's remark about "aiming at his enemies," the President of the International Shooting Union (UIT) said today.

Kurt Hasler, UIT President, said, "The leader of the North Korean shooting team has extended his apologies in a conversation with me. Therefore the case is closed as far as we are concerned. The Olympic peace has been restored. There will be no further discussion of this matter within the UIT. I also don't see any need for the International Olympic Committee to deal with this affair."

Hasler, who comes from Switzerland, said the North Korean team official spoke in the name of Ho Jun Li, the gold medal winner in the small bore rifle prone event, and in the name of the entire North Korean shooting team.

"The official left no doubt that his team has no other intention than to compete in these games in the true Olympic spirit," Hasler said.

The North Koreans claimed in a news conference on Monday Li had been "misunderstood and misquoted" when he was reported talking about "shooting at his enemies."

But newsmen and TV reporters said there was evidence available on recorded tape that Li made the controversial statement.

Trust-Sickler Combine Leads

Rock Construction threw a big scare into Kingston Trust-Sickler's at Dietz Stadium Tuesday when it put together a rally in the top of the seventh of their Senior Babe Ruth League playoff game. But the burst—which ended after seven runs had scored—wasn't enough and Trust-Sickler's won, 8-7.

The win advanced Trust-Sickler's to the finals where they'll face the survivor of tonight's JG Dry Wall-Charlie's Car Wash battle.

Showing that the seniors can do anything that the juniors can do, or at least come close, the two clubs combined for a total of 22 walks in the opener. A junior playoff game Monday produced 31 walks.

Trust-Sickler's managed a run in the first, six in the fifth, and another in the sixth and that proved to be just what they needed.

There were only nine hits in the game, two each by Rock's Ed Glynn and Trust's John Guess.

Vin Rua was the winning pitcher, Glynn the loser.

Barry Says He'll Stay In N. Y.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rick Barry, the star forward ordered by a federal judge to play for the Golden State Warriors this season, said Tuesday night he will defy the order and remain in New York.

Barry, who led the New York Nets to the finals of the American Basketball Association playoffs, made the announcement on a New York television program where he is a part-time employe.

Barry said he expected to be in the New York Nets' camp next month.

Barry led the National Basketball Association in scoring with San Francisco but jumped to Oakland when the ABA was formed. His problems began when the Oakland club moved to Washington and Barry refused to go. He finally agreed to play for Washington but signed an agreement with the Warriors to begin after his Washington contract expired.

The Washington club, having moved to Virginia, then traded Barry to New York.

A native of Roselle, N.J., Barry said he has business interests in the New York area and his broadcasting job and does not wish to return to the West Coast.

Wilkens Still Can't Decide

SEATTLE (AP) — Cleveland Cavaliers Coach Bill Fitch reports he had a five hour talk with Lenny Wilkens Tuesday but that the former Seattle SuperSonics coach still hasn't decided whether to report to the Cleveland National Basketball Association team.

In fact, Fitch said Wilkens still is considering retiring.

Replying to a question during an interview with Seattle television station KIRO, Fitch said the Cleveland team would not consider trading Wilkens to Portland.

There have been rumors Wilkens has requested such a trade.

"If Wilkens plays next season, it will be with Cleveland," said Fitch, who also is director of player personnel for the Cavaliers.

Cleveland obtained Wilkens and Barry Clemens in a trade for Butch Beard. If Wilkens retires, the trade will stand. Wilkens has not yet revealed his future plans.

"The trade was a calculated gamble," said Fitch. "The gamble was obtaining a superstar in exchange for a good player who probably will develop into a superstar in the future," he said.

Schine's Hit Wins It, 7-6

KINGSTON

Anchorage I got a key hit from the No. 10 man in its batting order Tuesday to come from behind and beat Perry's, 7-6, in the City Slow Pitch League.

Elsewhere, Wayside Inn clubbed Village Jug, 12-3; Ray's Village Inn downed Uhl Construction, 12-9; Mahoney's Pub tripped Tony's, 9-6; and Carriage House whipped West Pierpont Market, 19-5.

Trailing 6-5 going into the bottom of the seventh, Anchorage loaded the bases on singles by Bud Bunt and Doc Norton surrounding an error on a ball hit by Bob Murphy. Then Pete Schline laced a game-winning base hit. Earlier, John Vogt had homered and Ron Reynolds had racked up three hits for the winners. Butch Blackwell had three hits for Perry's.

Tom Auringer homered and Tom Scarey pounded out three hits as Wayside disposed of Village Jug. Ken Thompson and Jeff Port each registered a pair of safeties.

Ken Hepper and Greg Hasse pasted out three hits apiece in Ray's victory over Uhl. Roger Colon, Bob Cunningham and Ed Sarkies each collected three hits for the losers.

Brick Haslam doubled and singled twice to pace Mahoney's over Tony's. Big hitter for the losing side was Ed Mills, who had two singles and a triple.

Tom Reinhardt and Harold Johnson each hit home runs as Carriage House stopped the Market after five innings via the 13-run rule. Reinhardt, John Cook, Tom McGowan, Larry Cook, and Frank Misasi each notched three hits for the winners. Keith Jones homered and Matt Howard tripled for the Market.

Biggest Tennis Tournament Underway With Field of 148

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Tournament director Mike Blanchard looked out over the courts of the West Side Tennis Club today and sighed.

"We'll be using 16 grass courts," he said, "and we've scheduled a full first round of 74 matches, but I don't really think we'll get them all in."

Stan Smith, top seed in the mammoth U.S. Open tennis championship field of 148, will get the tournament underway against 15-year-old Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif., and after the first service shot at Noon, the cannonading in the biggest tennis tournament of the year will continue unabated until Sept. 10.

The girls—80 strong, swing into action tomorrow, with Billie Jean King, the defending champion and the Wimbledon queen, opposing Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif. while Evonne Goolagong, Chris Evert and Margaret Court also launch their battles for the crown.

Svare Gets Tough With Thomas

By the Associated Press

Coach Harland Svare of the San Diego Chargers is finished playing the role of "Mr. Nice Guy."

Svare announced tuesday that Duane Thomas, the talented but mysterious running back the Chargers acquired from Dallas, was being suspended and was subject to a fine of a $150 per day for not reporting to the National Football League team Monday.

"Duane Thomas was told to report to training camp by 6 o'clock Monday," said Svare. "He failed to report. He is suspended without compensation. He will be fined $150 each day he is absent."

San Diego gave up sophomore running back Mike Montgomery and second-year wide receiver Billy Parks to get Thomas. Both players had outstanding rookie seasons for the Chargers but Svare, who has said Thomas is the best running back in the NFL since Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, gave up permanent rights to them. Now, after a full month of training camp, Thomas has not practiced.

"I said at the time of the trade for Duane that it was a gamble, a roll of the dice," said the Chargers' coach "Whatever the outcome, I'm not going to look back. We have a good football team to get ready for the season."

Tuesday was cutdown day for the NFL teams. Each squad was to be reduced to 49 players plus rookies who played in the College All-Star Game. Another five players must be pared from each team by next Tuesday and, of course, the teams must reduce to a 40-player roster for their regular season openers.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance Prorated on
40,000 miles	Miles Driven
45 month	$13.00
40 month	10.00
39 month	8.00
36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00
30 month	4.00
24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

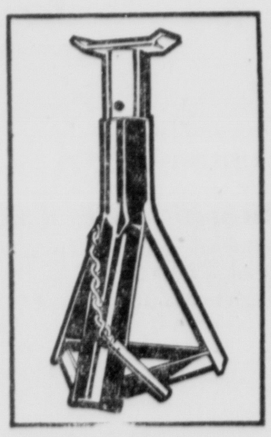

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.

Chidsey-DeForest Champion

KINGSTON — Chidsey-DeForest needed only two hits to defeat Kingston Lions 6-3 and wrap up the 1972 Babe Ruth League championship playoff in two straight games.

Steve Mihic limited C-D to singles by Keith Sweeney and John Baxter but 10 walks and loose fielding by his teammates proved his undoing. Chris Bentley won for Chidsey-DeForest on an 8-hitter. He fanned seven and Mihic whiffed six.

Chris Dunham led the Lions with a single and homer. Tom Hines singled and doubled and Mihic slammed two singles.

Hines' double and Joe Pimo's single sent the Lions ahead 1-0 in the top of the first. Chidsey's tied it on Sweeney's single, stolen base, wild pitch and error. Dunham's homer down the left field line put the Lions ahead 2-1 in the second, but the winners rallied for three runs in the third on five walks and two infield outs.

Five walks, an error and infield outs accounted for Chidsey's last two runs. A walk to Hines and Mihic's second hit of the game accounted for the final Lions tally in the seventh. The Lions, ironically, had at least one hit in every inning but the third.

Byman and Parsons Bid For U.S. Amateur Title

KINGSTON — Three amateur golfers well known to Kingston area fans—Bobby Byman of Boulder, Colorado; Howie Pierson, basketball coach of Rockland Community College, and Johnny Parsons, the 1971 Woodstock Open champion, launched their bid for the 1972 United States Amateur Golf Championship today at the Charlotte (N.C.) Country Club.

But they'll find both the opposition and course conditions mighty rough. Ben Crenshaw, the blond Texan with a list of impressive titles already under his belt this year, led a talented, crowded pack of golfers into the opening round.

Byman, moving into the Amateur with some spectacular credentials of his own, was not listed among the pretournament favorites, but that factor was not likely to diminish his drive for the title.

Byman, at 16 the youngest player ever to qualify for the U.S. Open this June, later captured the U.S. Junior championship, the Doral National Invitational and led Southwestern U.S. qualifiers for the Amateur.

Parsons, who now plays out of Newton, Conn., fired a 4 under-par 66 to win the 1971 Open at Woodstock and returned to post 68 for a second place tie this year. Pierson, a member of the Rivervale, N.J. Country Club, posted a 72 in the 1971 Woodstock Open. He is known, of course, as one of the best amateurs in the Metropolitan district.

The field has been boiled down to 150 and they'll do battle through Saturday on the 6,811-yard, par 71 course, where groundskeepers have let the rough reach torturous heights.

"The rough is almost impossible," said Dick Siderowf, 35, a Westport, Conn., stockbroker and former member of the Walker Cup team.

"The rough is pretty thick," agreed Crenshaw. "It's demanding. I like any kind of course that offers a good challenge. There's going to be an opportunity for challenging putts and good iron shots."

Driving will be the key to success on the course, because once a golfer wanders out of the fairway, the going will get tough.

The winner of last year's U.S. Amateur, Canadian Gary Cowan, decided to devote more time to his insurance activities and is not back to defend his title.

Four Roses Premium.
The label says American Light Whiskey-a blend.
A whole new kind of whiskey that actually forced a change in government liquor regulations.

How we distill it, age it, blend it is merely revolutionary.
How it tastes is absolutely underwhelming.
After all, life has whelm enough as it is.

Jones Radio-TV Tops A. C. For Red Division Flag

SAUGERTIES

To win a championship a team has to beat the front-runner, Glasco A.C. of the Saugerties Softball League's Red Division did that twice this season but failed on the third try and lost to Jones Radio-TV in a pennant playoff, 7-4.

The two clubs came into the sudden death showdown with two defeats apiece. Both of Jones' losses had been at the hands of Glasco. However the A.C. team couldn't make it three as Mickey Bush stifled them on five hits and three Jones sluggers bashed home runs.

The first round-tripper put Jones ahead 1-0 in the second. Mike Mahar was the home run hitter.

But Glasco came up with three in the fourth sparked by Bunny Riozzi's two-run single.

Jones rallied for three in their half of the fourth and put the game away in the sixth on back-to-back homers by Tony Spada and Bush.

It was the third pennant playoff in league history, the second involving Glasco.

Merget Pigeons Score in Debut

MT. MARION

A new member of the Kingston Racing Pigeon Club — Charles Merget of New Paltz — made an auspicious debut, as his pigeon won the club's 150-mile race from Deepwater, N.J.

The winning bird was clocked at an average speed of 1216.72 yards per minute in prevailing over a field of 184 birds from 13 lofts in hot and rainy weather and southeast winds.

Lee Behnke released the second, third and fourth place birds, Gene Barry's bird placed fifth. Another 150-miler from Deepwater will be held next Sunday.

UCCC Lauded For Evening Plan

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College has been accepted for membership in the Association of University Evening Colleges, Dr. George B. Erbstein, president announced today.

The acceptance was based on the recommendation of a three-member association team which last spring inspected the continuing education programs offered by Ulster.

The team was composed of Thomas J. Bryde, of Iona College; Robert E. Moseley, of Dutchess Community College; and Lewis C. Popham, of Orange County Community College.

"We're most pleased with this favorable report of the inspection team," said Dr. Erbstein, "and are proud to become a member of this fine organization."

The team commended the trustees, staff and faculty at Ulster for meeting the requirements of accreditation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and making available a variety of credit and credit-free courses for the adult citizens of the county on campus and at various extension centers.

Praise also was forthcoming for the opportunity given part-time students to register by mail, to enroll in classes during the day, and to earn the same degree as the full-time student.

The team also lauded UCCC for the use of full-time faculty for the teaching of evening classes and the availability of another professional staff member in management offerings to work for and with the Director of Continuing Education in increasing and broadening the course offerings.

The investigators noted that Ulster's enrollment includes approximately 1,300 full-time students and 800 to 1,000 part-time students. In addition, about 500 students are enrolled during the summer and another 300 at a January intersession.

The team reported the college offers a variety of seminars, workshops, and short and long term courses that are credit-free (non-credit) in response to the needs and requests of civic, businss and industrial groups of the community. The number of participants in these programs varies with the season as well as the need, and ranges from 200-300 to 800-900 additional students on campus.

The college operates on a continuous day basis from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and students may enroll in classes at any hours of the day or evening.

Bell Attending GOP Meeting

NEW YORK CITY

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) is attending today's meeting of the Republican State Committee in New York City at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Assemblyman Bell is a Republican State Committeeman representing Ulster County.

The GOP State Committee is meeting to select presidential electors for the coming election. The Conservative State Committee also will be meeting on Wednesday to select its presidential electors.

Strong efforts are under way to have the two state political committees select the same set of presidential electors. This, of course, would enhance President Nixon's chances of carrying New York State in the Nov. 7th election, Bell said.

On Thursday, Bell will be meeting in New York City with the permanent Commission on Public Employee Pension and Retirement Systems, commonly known as the Kinzel Commission. The chairman of the Commission is Otto Kinzel. Bell is chairman of the Assembly Subcommittee on Retirement Systems of the Government Employees' Committee.

Bell said the purpose of the meeting between the commission and his subcommittee is to coordinate activities of the two bodies, explore areas of mutual concern, and hopefully develop a timetable for presentation of commission and legislative recommendations for the 1973 general session of the State Legislature.

Opus 40 Opening Scheduled

SAUGERTIES

For the third year Opus 40 in Saugerties will be open to the public as a benefit for the Children's Rehabilitation Center of Kingston.

Opus 40 is owned by Harvey and Barbara Fite, and by opening it to the public Sunday, Sept. 3, from 1 to 5 p.m., they are "asserting their interest and concern in a community organization that is a credit to Ulster County," according to a Center statement.

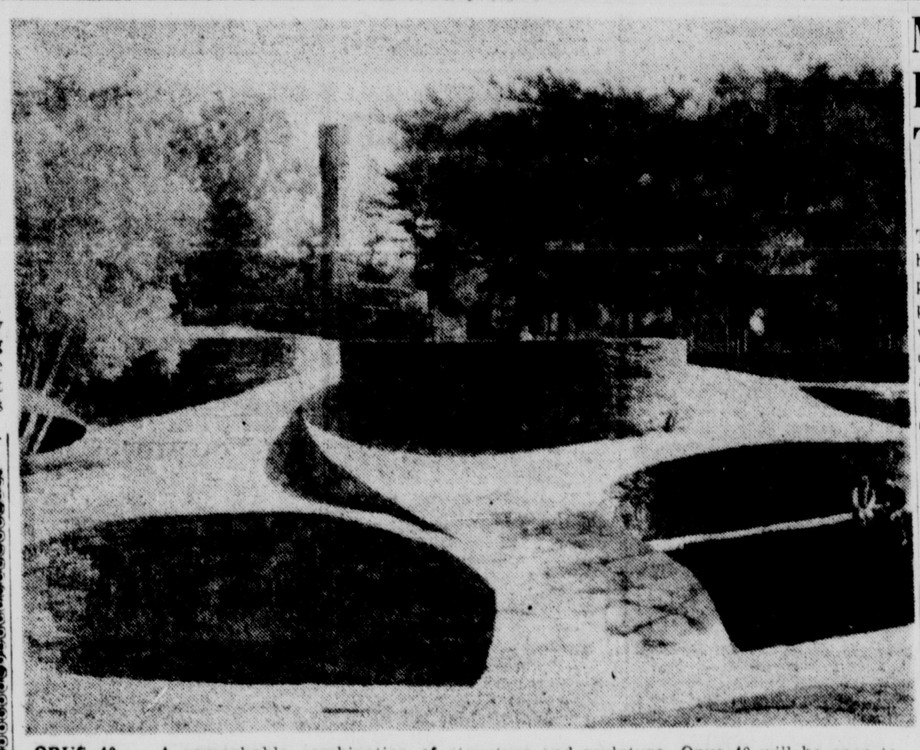

The Center works with children who are hard of hearing, have speech defects, or who are suffering from cerebral palsy and other physical afflictions. The children are given the most modern and effective therapy at the center, and a considerable number are helped far along to becoming productive members of society.

A member of Ulster United Way, the center, under the direction of Mrs. Charlott Peck, is housed in a new modern building on land donated by Benedictine Hospital.

Opus 40 has been hailed by many who have seen it as "the homage of one man to an inner vision of beauty" and it is considered both a structure and a sculpture.

It was built on 10 acres of formerly rubble strewn land.

All roads leading to Opus 40, which is situated in Highwoods, Saugerties, will be clearly marked, and ample parking space has been provided by the Fites. Tickets are available at the entrance. The rain date is Monday, Sept. 4.

OPUS 40 — A remarkable combination of structure and sculpture, Opus 40 will be open to the public as a benefit for the Children's Rehabilitation Center, Sunday, Sept. 3, from 1 to 5 p. m. The art work is located in High Woods, Saugerties. All roads will be marked and parking will be provided.

Marbletown Republicans Tab Roosa

STONE RIDGE

Enrolled Republicans voting at Tuesday night's Town of Marbletown Republican caucus picked Ronald Roosa as their party's nominee to replace Edwin B. Shumate, the town councilman who retired last week after moving from the state.

Roosa, of Lyonsville, was chosen by a 94-15 margin over Robert Van Wagenen of Lomontville by the 109 persons who voted at the caucus.

A third candidate who had been expected to run for the nomination, Peter Sidoran of High Falls, withdrew before the voting began.

Town Supervisor Kenneth D. Smith said today that the Republican committeemen have asked the town board to appoint Roosa to fill the vacant post until the end of the year. Smith indicated that Roosa would probably be appointed at the September board meeting unless a special meeting is called before then.

In his letter of resignation, Shumate asked that his replacement come from the Lomontville area where he had lived before moving, "in order to have continued representation in that very important territory."

Joseph LaFera, town Democratic chairman, has meanwhile called a Democratic caucus for Thursday, Aug. 30 in the town hall at 7:30 p. m. to select a candidate to run for Shumate's unexpired term.

All enrolled Democrats in the township are eligible to attend and vote at the caucus. Nominations will be accepted from the floor.

Those chosen at the caucuses will run in the November election for Shumate's unexpired term from Jan. 1, 1973 to Dec. 31, 1973.

Error Noted In Story

KINGSTON

A feature story in The Sunday Freeman was inaccurate in stating that Arthur Perry of 60 South Washington Avenue had had an $1,100 bid on the Santa Claus Hotel at 533-545 Abeel Street rejected by the city.

In fact, Perry told The Freeman, he didn't bid on that property at all. Arthur Perry bid on several other city-owned properties at the public auction in June, but not on the Santa Claus Hotel.

The man bidding on that parcel was Octave Perry of Route 4, Box 159, Saugerties. Octave Perry, who is in the construction and paving business, had planned to demolish the Santa Claus Hotel and build apartments. His $1,100 bid was rejected by the city, since according to city officials, taxes on the building added up to $1,500. James Schick, one of the heirs of the Schick Estate which had owned the building at the time of the city's takeover for taxes in 1968, purchased the building for $1,500 from the city and then sold it to James J. Berardi. Berardi demolished it and is converting the land into a park.

Arthur Perry also told The Freeman that he is a used car dealer and not a junk car dealer. He had been in the business of selling used cars at his 60 South Washington Avenue address for the past 15 years.

Rhinebeck Zoning Proposals . . . . Decision Forthcoming

RHINEBECK — Mayor Peter Sipperley told a crowd of about 30 persons Tuesday night that a Village Board decision on each of three proposed changes to the zoning law would probably be forthcoming by the next regularly scheduled board meeting Sept. 12.

The board heard opinions on the three matters Tuesday at a public hearing in separate sessions. The Stone-Cotting request, asking for an extension of the business district north on Route 9 for almost 500 feet on the west side, met with almost solid opposition from those who spoke.

Ted Cox, speaking for residents of upper Montgomery Street (Route 9), presented a statement to the board stating that he was "unalterably opposed" to this particular request and also opposed to any extension of the general business district. He added he feared the "domino effect" in this extension.

Charlotte Rockwell said that continuous extension of this district would "lose the feeling of a village" in Rhinebeck.

James Hawco asked that some of those making the request offer their defense, but Sipperley said this was up to them.

Dr. Simon Kleeger spoke in favor of the request, saying that the original zoning plan was "ill-conceived" and "asymmetrical."

The second hearing dealt with an addition of eight principal permitted uses to the special permitted use category in the business district.

The third hearing consisted of nine items requested by the Town Planning Board as necessary clarifications and changes. Those discussed included the allowance of privately or corporately owned sewer systems in the village in addition to publicly owned ones and the proposed allowance of apartments in the business district.

Some present felt that the Dutchess County Department of Health was inadequate assurance that privately owned sewer systems would be up to par. Sipperley said it was the only enforcing agency.

One section proposed allowing apartments on the first floor in the business district by special permit and on other above ground floors by right, if all other qualifications were met.

Dr. Kleeger said there was an "inherent danger" in allowing apartments in this densely populated area with no central sewerage, and it was also pointed out that fire hazards could exist in third floor apartments in the predominantly old buildings.

State Career Grant

POUGHKEEPSIE — A grant for $7,723 to Dutchess Community College from the New York State Education Department will aid career planning and job placement.

Services of the computer-operated data bank will benefit students graduating from one of the college's 21 technical career programs, according to John Elsoffer, director of placement and career development, who will direct the six-month development program.

Once the data bank begins operation, graduating students previously confronted with a welter of information on job opportunities may submit a query and receive the number and locations of firms within a 200-mile radius of the college where suitable employment may be sought.

One of the chief benefits described will be the bank's service to the students in allowing them to choose a course of study more realistically at Dutchess that will prepare him for opportunities already identified within the general area.

Several Dutchess students enrolled in the data processing program wrote the computer program, which was essential to the approval of the data bank proposal.

These were: Roxanne A'Brial, Red Hook; Mrs. Jayasri Guha, Patricia Probst, Diane Rembisz, all of Poughkeepsie; and Dorothy Stanton, Beacon, all working under the direction of Associate Professor William Kleinhomer.

Director Urges 'Registration'

POUGHKEEPSIE — Director of the Dutchess County Youth Board Freda Casner today urged college students and youths entering military service, who are now at home, to register to vote and apply for absentee ballots before they leave the county.

Some states permit student registration in college towns, but it is a difficult process, she said. In New York, as well as in most states, it is impossible.

Young people should also bear in mind that absentee registration forms, ballot applications, and ballots have to be received by the Board of Elections on particular dates in order to be valid.

Those who will be away during the three days of local registration in September and October must register by Aug. 30, the last day of central registration, at the Board of Elections, 47 Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie. Both forms must be returned by Oct. 10.

"Young people will constitute the majority of our newly eligible voters," said Mrs. Casner. "For a first time voter, registration and voting absentee is not simple."

Two Plead Guilty in Tape Cartridge Case

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Two Port Jervis men pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of selling unauthorized copies of stereo tape cartridges to area retail stores, State Police here said.

Troopers said Robert Simonson, 47, and Richard D. Jewell, 36, sold copies, on 8-track cartridges, of master recordings made by a New Jersey firm without the permission of owners. This constitutes a misdemeanor under the general business law.

State Police and Port Jervis Police raided the duo's business—Stereo Carnival Inc.—and confiscated 1,400 cartridges. They picked up another 600 from retailers in Port Jervis and said they estimated another 4,000 are being merchandised by about 50 retailers in Orange and Ulster counties, Pike County, Pa., Sussex County, N.J.

A police investigator said that action against the New Jersey company cannot be taken since that state has no law prohibiting such recordings.

The two men sold the cartridges to retail merchants at $1.25 apiece. The retail price was $3.29, according to police.

The two men were arraigned in Port Jervis Court and fined $250 each. Police said they could have arrested the retailers in the state but chose not to do so at this time.

Refresher Course Scheduled

POUGHKEEPSIE — Miss Kathryn Ryan, R.N., supervisor of the Emergency and Outpatient Departments of St. Francis Hospital, will attend a 16-week refresher course for emergency department registered nurses offered by the Albany Regional Medical Program at Albany Medical Center Hospital, beginning Sept. 11.

Emergency care delivery is one of the most critical problems faced by the American health care delivery system. A dramatic increase in the utilization of emergency facilities has been experienced throughout the nation during the past several years. Studies show that in the last decade, the number of patients treated in emergency departments more than doubled. There was an increase of 20 million emergency patients during the seven years from 1962 to 1969.

The "Special Training for Emergency Department Nurses" program is an activity of the Albany Regional Medical Program designed to help hospitals improve their delivery of emergency care by providing emergency department registered nurses with the training they need to perform in an expanded role.

New Musical Series Planned

ANCRAM, N.Y. — This summer's musical film festival at the Johann Strauss Atheneum in this Columbia County town has been received with such enthusiasm that a new series is being scheduled for October, November and December.

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy have taken the area by storm as they have sung their way into each others arms and everyone's hearts who has attended. The Operetta Museum has been filled to capacity for many of the film showings.

Also sharing in the entertainment have been "Showboat," "The Student Prince," "The Great Caruso," "Broadway Melody of 1929," and "The Follies Bergere of 1935."

A recent showing of "Madame Satan," Cecil B. DeMille's only musical picture, brought applause from an audience which saw this rarely shown film for the first time.

Closing shows of this season the week prior to Labor Day have been Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate;" Noel Coward's "Bitter Sweet" Sept. 1; and the biography of Sigmund Romberg, "Deep In My Heart" Sept. 2.

A brochure will be available in September outlining the Fall series. Those wishing to get on the mailing list may receive a copy by sending name and address to the Gotham Light Opera Guild, Inc., Ancram, N.Y. 12502.

He's Also Concerned

EDITOR'S NOTE—No one is more concerned about Americans' health than the man who oversees payment of nearly $14 billion a year in medical bills. And, Blue Cross president Walter McNerney has a few ideas on how to bring down health care costs while raising the level of people's health.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Like most Americans, Walter J. McNerney is concerned over the high costs of health care these days. And he has numerous ideas for bringing the bills down, or at least slowing their rise while improving the level of people's health.

As president of the Blue Cross Association, McNerney oversees the payment of nearly $14 billion a year in health costs.

He urges "an ecological view of health, looking beyond the usual ways of providing health care."

"It has just been a cop-out to believe that good health depends upon the doctor with his little black bag, and the availability of a hospital bed, the idea that we can solve our health problems if only we had more doctors and more hospitals, and more money," McNerney said in a recent interview.

Usually, no attention is paid to health matters unless there is a crisis of sickness, he points out.

But, he declares, the main causes of ill health lie within society itself, stemming from poor housing, poor diet, drug addiction, ignorance of good health habits, lack of knowledge of where to seek medical help in the community. "The causes lie in our life styles. Health is not only an individual affair, but a community affair as well. Ill health cannot be corrected in our ghettos and rural areas just by providing more health services in our customary fashion."

As one means of reducing costs, McNerney says he is almost inclined to the calling of a moratorium on expanding the number of hospital beds, except in ghetto and rural areas where they are really needed.

Nowadays it costs from $40 to $300 for one patient to occupy one hospital bed for just one day, depending where in the country he or she happens to be sick, he says. The average is $90.

But it can cost $40 to $70 every day a hospital bed is not used because of high overhead costs.

Area-wide planning offers a more efficient way of meeting medical and health needs, McNerney says.

And, he adds, not every hospital needs to dupliacte the expensive special facilities, such as a coronary intensive care unit, already existing in a nearby hospital. Area planning can help solve the problem of distribution of hospital beds, putting new ones where they are most needed.

Periodic health exams offer great opportunities to reduce human suffering and premature death, but will not greatly reduce the overall total costs of health care, McNerney thinks, because such tests "won't forestall that much illness."

Computers are being used to review what hospitals do with patients, whether they may keep them too long, or give them excessive or unnecessary services. At the same time, a check is made as to whether patients are being treated too little or being neglected, McNerney says.

McNerney also suggests a hard-nosed analysis of some current practices to determine if they really do benefit health.

The Kaiser-Permanente Plan in California is evaluating carefully the worth of periodic physical examinations for people over 40, to be sure that an annual checkup is productive. The issue is in question, McNerney says.

The National Tuberculosis Association last year recommended that mass screening by X-ray with mobile units be continued only in areas of extremely high incidence of TB, meaning mainly the inner sections of big cities. The old mass screening was found unproductive in terms of finding cases in the general population.

"The surprising thing is the growing similarity of average length of life and causes of death among the best and the least well-cared for populations in our country," McNerney says.

McNerney sees some success in tackling the complicated problem of improving the nation's health.

"Comprehensive health planning and regional medical programs are at least noble efforts designed to pull disease care services together and to point them to better health. They are steps in the right direction even though they may not yet have succeeded.

"One of the most exciting past successes was the Tennessee Valley Authority where a whole region was turned around through a coordinated attack on agricultural, industrial, educational, health and environmental problems. Here we hit the target reasonably well. There are deep lessons in the TVA for our sick core cities...for improving the welfare of despairing, unproductive people living in a sick society."

EVER-PRESENT CHERIE AND LORI—An election season rolls around again, two chimpanzees appear to be trying their own brand of person to person contact on the campaign trail The chimps, Cherie and Lori, are actually pets of Mr. and Mrs. George Turrell, of Montreal, who brought them back from the Congo. The Turrell's are having a problem finding a baby sitter for the chimps and have to take them every where they go. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Faces Up to the Changing Scene

Scout Handbook . . . First Revision in 61 Years

EDITOR'S NOTE—Six knots, not 16, will do now for the tenderfoot. Ratbites rank with snakebites and the worst news of all in the newly rewritten Boy Scout Handbook: Bathing has escalated from a recommended twice a week to once a day for every Good Scout.

By JULES LOH
AP Newfeatures Writer

Gather 'round the butane stove, old timers, pull up an air mattress and Be Prepared—for a shock. They've rewritten the bible.

Scout's honor. For the first time in its 61-year history of publication the official handbook of the Boy Scouts of America has been completely revised.

The new version reflects an America short on wilderness if not on innocence, but don't despair. The old posters that said Scouting is fun still hold true.

The revised handbook, which appears Sept. 1, simply faces up to changes that have swept the land in the past half century.

It still teaches, for example, how to deal with a snakebite—and now a ratbite. It also includes an eight-page section on drug abuse, more space than the 1911 book gave to identifying mushrooms.

Sections on tracking, signaling, starting fires with flint and steel, frostbite, fits, constipation, edible plants, heat exhaustion and sunstroke all have disappeared from the manual.

That doesn't mean hiking and camping have gone the way of the $2.50 Scout shoe that also appeared in the original edition.

On the contrary, hiking has been expanded to include hikes in the city; one illustration captioned "Watch for landmarks" shows a lamppost at the corner of 112th and Main.

What if a city hiker gets lost? Does he break out his Scout compass? Signal with his Scout whistle? Neither. He looks for a cop.

Overnight camping in the great outdoors is not quite the same nowadays either. Campers who followed the old handbook were admonished (a Scout is thrifty) not to squander money on something so easily made at home as a tent waterproofed with alum, sugar of lead, turpentine and paraffin.

Today plasticized tents are the thing and modern Scouts are advised, wistfully, "Bring your own tent stakes and poles with you. You will probably not be able to cut trees for poles in your camp." They also are taught how to blow up air mattresses.

As for outdoor cooking, while the 1911 handbook conceded that "amateur biscuits are not happiness" it did include directions on how to make pancakes and so does the new book.

"Beat one egg, tablespoonful of sugar, one cup diluted condensed milk or new milk..." began the old book. The new book: "Mix batter according to instructions on the ready-mixed package."

There now appear brand new sections on air and water pollution—"You can't enjoy camping by a polluted stream. It stinks."—but missing from the handbook is that marvelous section on the calls of the wild.

Scout patrols still may be named for beasts but it seems today's lad isn't taught, phonetically, how to sound the call of his own patrol: Buffalo — um-maouw; Otter — hoi-oi-oick; Bear — broof-broof; Eagle — kreeee; Wolf — how-0000; fox — ha-ha.

Hygiene (a scout is clean) has changed as well, and not necessarily to the delight of a boy. Bathing, for instance, is now recommended daily instead of twice a week.

On the other hand, "Keep your fingernails neatly trimmed and clean" suffices for what earlier was a 200-word essay including the observation: "Biting the nails is a filthy practice and mutilates the fingers dreadfully."

Time was, a glance at the old handbook will attest, when a Scout had to master fundamental knot-tying just to rank as a tenderfoot. No longer. In fact, the new handbook covers only six of the 16 "knots every Scout should know" in old days.

Other skills are emphasized. If today's Scout can't tie a sheepshank or a becket hitch he can learn to make a Geiger counter, invest in the stock market and write a resume for a job.

And even though he can no longer earn a merit badge in stalking or blacksmithing he can earn them in space exploration, oceanography, electronics and computers.

It's a new world, old Scout.

POWs . . . Confusion To Reign

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) When American prisoners of war return home from Indochina they will have a difficult time adapting to the social changes that have taken place, according to a military psychiatrist.

For that reason, Capt. Raymond C. Spaulding Jr., chief of psychiatry at San Diego Naval Hospital, hopes welcoming ceremonies will be delayed for a while after their arrival home.

Spaulding says the POWs, some who have been in captivity for eight years, face a potentially traumatic cultural shock.

"Those guys are going to be very confused," Spaulding said. 'Can you imagine being seven years over there and coming home to find your wife in a minidress and no bra out in public? Or your kids with long, scroungy hair?" Spaulding made his comments in an interview with the San Diego Tribune.

Spaulding, 51, was head of the six-man psychiatric team which worked with the men from the captured spy ship Pueblo. They spent a year as prisoners in North Korea.

"I was very much against the precipitous return of the Pueblo people," he said. "It was a psychological crime. Crewmen later told me they didn't know if they'd be stoned in the streets or taken to a federal prison."

Spaulding envisions a more gradual rehabilitation program, with the men possibly being returned by ship rather than air.

The Pentagon is working on a contingency plan for the return and care of POWs. Although the North Vietnamese government has given no indication when POWs will be released, the Naval Hospital here is expected to be a center for rehabilitation on their return.

"I would say it's going to take a minimum of four weeks for the POWs to say things like 'go to hell' or to express anger or a negative feeling," Spaulding said.

"They have not been able to do that for years, because if they did they might get their heads bashed in or not get their ration of rice."

Other problems which he says returning POWs may encounter:

—Getting along with other people after years of near isolation. This includes the man's own wife and family and probably will require family therapy.

—Physical ailments and sexual impotency caused by the long confinement and malnutrition.

—Learning to readjust to simple amenities of life such as furniture. "They may not have sat in chairs for years. What are you going to do when an ex-POW comes into your office and squats on his haunches?" Spaulding asked.

Meeting Postponed

Monday's regularly scheduled meeting of the Kingston Town Board has been postponed due to the Labor Day holiday, according to Supervisor Kenneth Whispell. The Town Board, instead, will meet in regular session on Thursday, Sept. 7 at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall in Sawkill. The Town Board will resume its regular first-Monday-of-the-month meetings in October.

Recently Summered at 'Gap'

Tillson Man With 100th Unit

INDIANTOWN GAP,PA. Beep-Beep-ZZZooommmm and as the dust clears one gets a clear view of the Pennsylvania landscape. Sounds like an out-of place roadrunner cartoon. Actually its the quarter ton jeep of the 100th Transportation Company from Fort Eustis, Va., whose mascot is the famous desert bird.

The truck unit recently summered in the "Blue Mountains" of Southeastern Pennsylvania in support of the 1972 First U.S. Army ROTC Summer Camp. While at the "Gap" the company provided vehicles, drivers and maintenance for the 36 training committees and four staff sections of the ROTC camp. In addition the 100th was assigned a jeep and two and one half ton truck to each of the 13 cadet companies at IGMR. They also provided assistance to national guard and reserve units.

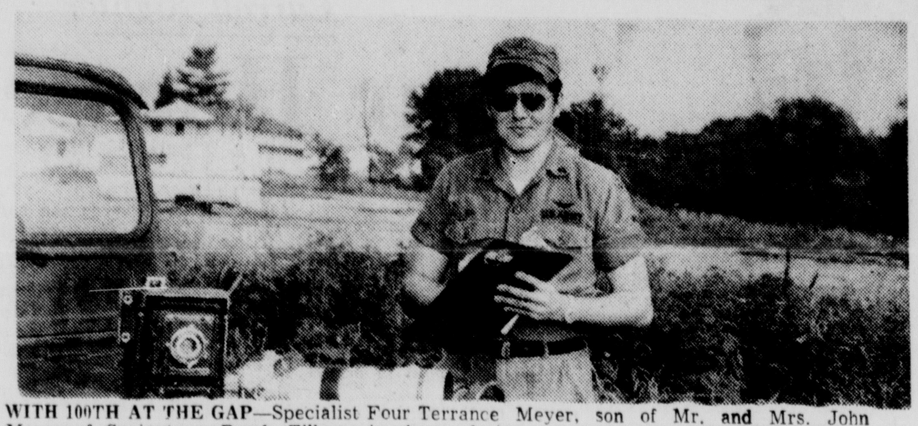

The 128 roadrunners of the 100th arrived and logged nearly 100,000 miles on the 67 vehicles plus another 500,000 on the 149 ROTC vehicles which belong to Indiantown Gap.

The unit's mission was widespread. They did everything from driving ammo and hot chow to cadets in the field, to chauffering generals and guests for the visitors bureau. Not only did they drive, but during their spare time fielded an outstanding softball team which finished second in tournament play.

During the floods the 100th sent 34 trucks to the state capital to assist in evacuation of danger areas. The drivers worked until the emergency was over, some getting only six hours rest over the 72 hour period.

The 100th Transportation Company is commanded by Captain Vestal D. Walker of Gastonia, N.C. First Sergeant for the unit is Charlton R. Cater for Okeechobee, Fla. According to CPT Walker the unit had done a terrific job. "They have worked hard long hours and never complained one bit, they are a fine group of men," he said.

Sgt. Carter, in his second year here with the 100th in support of the ROTC camp said, "This has been a very rewarding assignment." I am proud of the men and the cooperation they have given me. He especially appraised the NCOS for their outstanding leadership and the job they have done.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, August 31

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You find you are quite nervous and restless now and need to be very careful you are not forgetful and that you avoid breaking promises. You are thinking with good logic, but have trouble carrying through with the sensible decisions you make. Be steadfast.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take time to compose yourself so that you do not have trouble in motion of any kind, especially while driving on the highway, turning corners, and so forth. Avoid sarcasm with associates. Diplomacy pays off well.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A more balanced attitude is best, since you can be very stingy one minute and overly extravagant the next. Do contact an advisor you can trust. Make the investment that will lead to greater security in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to go after personal aims with a vengeance; if you plan your time well, you can do just that and handle business also. Listen to what a clever person has to suggest. Haphazard activity could have you running around in circles, though.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you try to get out of that obligation you have assumed, you can certainly come a cropper now. Try to assist others with their troublesome affairs. You are a fine humanitarian at heart.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You cannot rely on usually helpful friends today since they are preoccupied with their own affairs, so handle matters well by yourself. A poised attitude is wise when dealing with others. Have a delightful time socially in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use courtesy in dealing with others or you really get into trouble. Safeguard your reputation and be on the safe side. Drive with utmost care in p.m. if you have to go out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are tempted to make some radical changes now but the time is not right for such, so await a better day. Sit down and plan new arrangements first. Show you are an expert in whatever you do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are responsibilities you have to handle, so get at them though you may not be in the right mood for such. Mate may be in a bad mood. It would not be a good idea to ask the reason.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Understand what it is a good partner has to say instead of trying to follow your own way of thinking now. This could be very helpful to mutual affairs. Avoid arguments that are annoying.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Many tasks face you and there is no more ideal day than this to get them out of the way efficiently. Plan more time for rest later so you rebuild your energies. Do a little reading and relax before you retire.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to get into the amusements you enjoy now with congenials after you have done your work well. Show more affection for mate. Buy some thoughtful gift that will please. Early to bed tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) The situation at home is apt to be very tense, so get busy making everything there more harmonious. Show you have understanding for others. Don't discuss any controversial subjects and start a serious argument.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those very restless young people who early in life will require much rest and a very good diet to build up the body, so be sure to put to bed early even though this child wants to stay up late and be peevish. Slant the education along lines that will place your offspring before the public, whether as a salesperson, on the rostrum, entertaining, or whatever. Teach early to complete whatever has once been started.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

CATS: (Q.) We have nine cats. My mother talks to them constantly but she does not keep the house clean behind them and it smells awful.

I am terribly embarrassed when any of my friends come by. I don't invite them, but sometimes they come by anyway. Please help me.—16-Year-Old Boy in Maine.

(A.) You can start a cleanup. Build boxes for the cats. Teach the cats to use the boxes. Start today cleaning up the house, room by room.

Ask your mother and father to give you money for the mops, brooms, pans, soap, cleansers, boards, and other things you need.

This will awaken them to the fact that something unusual is going on.

When they start asking questions, talk to them about how dangerous to health living in an unsanitary house is.

Urge them to help you keep it shining and sweetly clean or get rid of the cats.

Your mother seems to like the cats as companions. If she likes them enough maybe you can convince her they are worthy of sanitation as well as conversation.

CIGARETTES: (Q.) I am 12 and have been smoking about a half-pack of cigarettes a day for a little more than a year.

I can't run as fast as I could when I was 11. My coach said last spring it was because of the cigarettes and my parents tell me the same thing.

Do you think cigarettes could slow me down that fast?—Smoker in Massachusetts.

(A.) Talk to your doctor about what smoking does to some people's lungs.

I do not know whether smoking or something else has affected your running. But I do know that smoking can change a person both physically and mentally in a number of ways.

Why don't you try to stop smoking and see what happens to your running?

Locating Diamond King Easy

By Oswald and James Jacoby

South ruffed the third round of hearts and hummed softly to himself. If you had listened carefully, you would have noted the words were: "Where, o where is the king of diamonds; Where, o where can it be?"

Look at the hand. You can see his problem. If East holds the king, he can enter dummy with a high trump; lead the queen of diamonds and let it ride. Then he can play ace, king and a third club. The defense will win its third trick, but South will be able to ruff the fourth club in dummy and make his game.

Suppose West has the king of diamonds. The finesse will lose and eventually South will have to lose his fourth trick to the queen or jack of clubs.

South didn't hum very long because he knew where the king of diamonds was. West had opened the bidding with a heart with just seven high card points in that suit. Without the king of diamonds West could not hold more than 10 high card points and would not have made a vulnerable opening bid. As extra confirmation, East had passed the one heart opening. He might well have responded with the king of diamonds and three hearts to the queen.

Since he knew where the monarch was located, South proceeded to make his contract. He simply led his low diamond toward dummy.

West did the best he could. He rose with his king and led a trump.

South won in his hand; cashed the diamond ace; played two more rounds of trumps to stop in dummy, and discarded his two small clubs on the queen and jack of diamonds.

Simple TV Philosophy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—With the new television season just several weeks off, the networks are making wondrous promises again, performing their annual grey flannel public relations dance that would shame Salome with its hints of sweet rewards. The philosophy is simple: Promise the viewers everything, but use big movies to take a quick ratings lead.

In fairness, it has been an active video summer. There were the political conventions. There is ABC-TV's all-out coverage of the Olympics, which began during the weekend. There is CBS-TV's five-part Italian-made Sunday night series about Leonard da Vinci, which has two more episodes to go. Leonardo has done about as well as could be expected in the ratings. There was also ABC-TV's showing of the epic Russian film "War and Peace" on four consecutive nights, and here again the key urban ratings could have been worse.

In addition, ABC-TV finally confirmed this month that, starting in January, Jack Paar will alternate with Dick Cavett as host of its latenight series, indicated as a possibility in this column June 21 in exclusive interviews with Paar and ABC-TV President James Duffy. Plans currently call for Cavett and Paar to each do a week a month, with the remainder of each month's late-night slot filled out by original 90-minute productions including dramas, mysteries, comedies and variety shows.

But, ah, those annual early-in-the-season big movies. What assurance they give networks and viewers. No production problems to worry about. Just crank them up and show them. So it is that ABC-TV on Sept. 11 will offer "The Odd Couple" with Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau. And the same night NBC-TV airs "The Anderson Tapes," with Sean Connery in a tale of an ex-convict who plans to burglarize an entire luxurious Manhattan apartment building.

Then CBS-TV will present "Around the World in 80 Days" as a two-part showing Sept. 14 and 15. NBC-TV, on Sept. 16, broadcasts "In the Heat of the Night," starring Sidney Poitier as a black Philadelphia police detective and Rod Steiger as a southern police chief who have to work together to solve a crime in the chief's town.

How hot are early season movies? Well, Chrysler Corp. has bought full sponsorship of NBC-TV's first three Saturday night motion pictures of the season—"In the Heat of the Night," "The Thomas Crown Affair" (with Steve McQueen and Faye Dunaway) and "Cactus Flower" (With Matthau, Ingrid Bergman and Goldie Hawn).

And speaking of hot properties, NBC-TV has acquired the rights to the film version of "My Fair Lady," starring Rex Harrison and Audrey Hepburn, and plans to show it on a single evening. The trade press says the price is reported near $3 million for two presentations and that the network has the right to show the film over two nights if it wishes. It is also reported in the trade press that CBS-TV has acquired the blockbuster pop music movie "Woodstock" and plans to offer it as a three-hour special in the spring.

If big movies are invariably a ratings shoo-in, big movie stars in their own video series are not necessarily the same guarantee. Thus show business is especially intersted in Julie Andrews' new ABC - TV hour variety series that bows in Sept. 13. Impressionist Rich Little and comedienne Alice Ghostley join her on the debut, and they are also in the Sept. 20 outing along with Ken Berry and Jack Cassidy. The network, however, must be a bit edgy over the relatively low New York ratings for a pre-season one-hour buildup documentary about Miss Andrews last week.

At any rate, back on the network movie front, "Cactus Flower," in which Matthau portrays a playboy-dentist who pretends to be married to ward off girlfriends with matrimonial ideas, is NBC-TV's Sept. 30 offering. Then there is the feature-length animated film starring the Beatles, "Yellow Submarine," which CBS-TV will present Oct. 29.

And NBC-TV's Walt Disney hour, which long has known the value of Disney movies rerun on video, kicks off its season Sept. 17 and 24 with a two-part showing of "The Computer Wore Tennis Shoes," in which a collegian has his mental apparatus jolted by a backfiring computer, turns into a genius and becomes a national celebrity.

Early season movies can get a network off winging in the ratings, or put it in a hole. Ratings affect advertising rates and a network's stock market showing. And in video, careers ride on such results.

THE WHOLE: We usually speak of a group of colleges that give advanced degrees as a university today. The name came about in the 12th century when schools of higher education began to offer courses in literature from the entire world. University is from the Latin "universe.sone" meaning the whole.

Almanac Lauds the Distaffers

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — The Farmer's Almanac has spent 156 years poking gentle fun at women with lines like, "Many women would be more spic if they had less span."

But times have changed, says editor Ray Geiger. "The belief that 'it's a man's world' quite evidently becomes less valid with every passing day and year," Geiger said.

Not that the Almanac is going to give up its one-liners aimed at women, but Geiger has written a two-page article for the 1973 edition, available Sept. 17, which is quite complimentary of woman's role in the world.

Among other things, Geiger, 62, points out that tests have shown a woman's intelligence is equal to a man's and that women control the purse strings of the United States, making 80 per cent of all consumer purchases.

Geiger said in an interview Thursday he included the article because of a letter from a Maryland woman complaining that certain jokes, bits of verse and capsules of wisdom in the 1972 Almanac were insulting to women.

Barbara Collier of Bethesda, Md., cited 36 items she said were demeaning of women, including this bit of advice: "One of the best ways for a woman to catch a man is to keep her trap shut."

A man's meaning behind that, she said, is: "women are always after men, and women talk too much."

She said she did not believe there was "conscious intent behind this. Most men and many women (even little girls) have the popular cliches so ingrained that they simply do not realize what they are doing."

"However," she wrote, "I find it hard to believe that many men find jokes using all the tired old stereotypes uproariously funny, and I am sure most women are not terribly amused."

Geiger said the woman's letter "got me thinking" and the article was the result.

The 1973 Almanac, with a circulation of 4.5 million, still contains one-liners on women ("My wife leads a double life — hers and mine") and its usual round of helpful hints and predictions.

It says the 1972-73 winter will be milder than last year's version and there will be an early spring next year.
